Caramelle plant to stay, remainder to be razed

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer

Demolition of the former Marshall Division of Miles Laboratories corn processing plant (Union Starch) here is to begin after the first of the year, officials of Archer Daniels Midland Co., the present owner, announced Tuesday.

ADM has contracted with the Invorex Corp. of New York to level everything between 19th and 20th streets which formerly was the corn processing plant.

Officials said the portion of the plant south of 19th Street, which contains the ADM caramel color processing operation, will remain intact and no plans have been made for that area.

Demolition is to begin "sometime after the first of the year," and is expected to take about a year to complete, the officials said.

ADM has already demolished portions of some buildings, but only when it was necessary to remove large pieces of equipment from inside the facilities, the spokesmen explained. All the equipment that ADM wanted to be removed now is gone, they added.

The site is to be leveled for sale or other possible use, but no specific plans have been made, it was disclosed. The buildings will be knocked into pieces and the rubble will be used to fill in the basements.

All wood will be removed. The lot then will be graded, but concrete areas will be left as they are, until future plans for the area are made.

"We feel a responsibility to the city for taking down an abandoned property which is becoming an eyesore and could pose a danger for people getting in," the spokesmen said.

It was emphasized that under the demolition contract, Invorex Corp. has taken possession of all material in the buildings and has all salvage rights.

"The property will remain under security with guards and dogs to keep unauthorized persons out, the spokesmen said.

The 71-year-old plant was constructed in 1903 by St. Louis Syrup and Preserving Co. to manufacture corn syrup. Its grind capacity was 12,000 bushels daily.

In 1907, the Corn Products Refining Co., with its chain of corn grinding plants throughout the Midwest, purchased the Granite City plant and manufactured "Karo," the brand name for corn syrup.

The plant went to a nine-hour working day in 1919. The plant was sold in 1919 to the Best-Clymer Co. and was operated for three years as the Tampion Corn Products Co. The operation proved unsuccessful and in February 1922 the plant was sold to Union Starch.

Union Starch operated the facility 45 years, selling it to Miles Laboratories in 1967. In 1922, when Union Starch transferred its entire operations to Granite City, products were dry starch for household and other uses, corn syrup, Peanut Butter, corn oil, corn sugar, corn oil and cattle feed from corn milling byproducts.

In addition, caramel, food coloring, food flavor crystals, oil cake meal and gluten meal were later made by the company.

During the depression years of the 1930s, while other industries were faltering, production at Union Starch remained fairly constant.

During one period, from April 1933, the company operated on a seven-day weekly schedule, filling orders for corn sugar and glucose.

Forecast—Upturn in second half of 1975

(Copyright 1974, Publishers Financial Bureau) By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., Dec. 26. At the time of our 1974 forecast a year ago, the American economy was beset by a critical shortage of fuel and energy, with its multitude of threatening implications.

Fortunately, despite widespread anxiety in the business world and the inconvenience of queuing up at gasoline stations, there were no massive disruptions of commercial and industrial activity.

There were, however, a number of warnings in our last year's annual forecast that have been only too clearly borne out. These included predictions of an impending change in our life style, a slowdown in economic activity, continuation of the excruciating squeeze of inflation, a further slump in homebuilding, and a downturn in interest rates.

1975—YEAR OF REALIGNMENT

As we move across the threshold into 1975, serious economic dislocations are being widely prophesied for the upcoming twelve months.

As 1974 drew to a close, serious setbacks were already evident in general activity, aggravated by the United Mine Workers' strike in the coal industry and the deepening inertia in the housing field.

Inflation continued to exact a heavy toll upon the purchasing power of consumers, business and all divisions of government.

Little wonder, then, that our enter 1975 with the conviction that it will be no bed of roses.

Rather, most of the year will be characterized by an atmosphere of realignment, correcting a number of excesses in order to place the economy on a healthier foundation from which renewed growth may come.

Among the needed corrections are the reduction of the burdensome consumer credit, the trimming of bloated governmental spending budgets and a shrinking of business inventories unwisely accumulated in late 1973 and early 1974 as a hedge against possible shortages and/or spiraling prices.

The truth is that swollen business inventories plus heavy business capital spending have been responsible for at least a fair part of today's monstrous inflation—having been, ironically enough, caused by fear of that very inflation's earlier stages.

Arrest in shooting today

Charles Rea, 32, of 3132 Kilmer Drive, was arrested at his home at 9 a.m. today and charged with attempted murder in connection with the shooting of his estranged wife, Victoria Rea, Collinsville.

Mrs. Rea was found at 7:45 a.m. today in her car near Highway 111 and Sand Prairie Lane, bleeding from gunshot wounds.

A resident of that area found her, took her into his home and called authorities and an ambulance, officials said.

She suffered several bullet wounds, including one in her mouth and two to her back. She was taken by ambulance to St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, and was transferred immediately to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, where she was admitted in critical condition. It was reported.

She spoke briefly with investigators from District 11 of the Illinois State Police and Madison County Sheriff's deputies, and was reported to have given them information which led to the arrest of her husband.

Authorities believe Rea's auto followed her car for a period prior to the shooting. She was unable to give details of how her auto was stopped or of the shooting.

State troopers notified all area police departments at 8:15 a.m. today to be alerted for Rea or his auto.

Troopers and county deputies then went to Rea's home where he was located and arrested. He was taken to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

Nab 2 after theft from music store

Ernest Golliday Jr., 26, and Gloria Harris, 22, both of St. Louis, were charged with felony theft counts and conspiracy after a man took a bag of change and attempted to remove a cash register from Fornaszewski Music Store, 3009 Nameoki Road, at 1:30 p.m. Monday, Golliday also was charged with burglary.

John Fornaszewski, owner, said he was working when he saw someone in a rear office of the store. He investigated and saw a man walking toward the rear door carrying a cash register.

Fornaszewski said he grabbed the register from the man's hands. The man continued walking out the door, entered a two-tone blue auto and drove south on Nameoki Road.

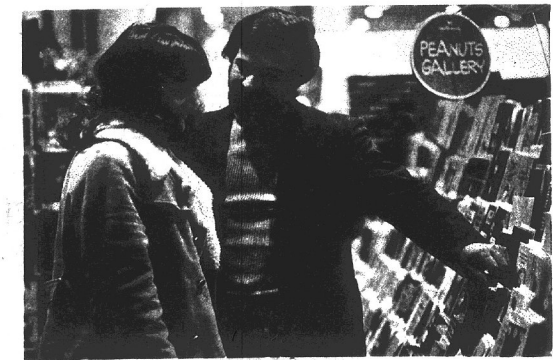

The store owner later discovered a white canvas bag containing some money and change was missing.

Police were given a description of the car which was broadcast to all local police agencies. Granite City officers spotted the car at 13th Street and Edwardsville Road within minutes of the theft report. With the assistance of Madison and Venice police cars, the auto was stopped at 1:37 p.m. at 14th Street and Madison Avenue.

Within minutes, 25 marked and unmarked police vehicles converged on the scene, officials reported. The two were taken into custody and were taken to the Granite City Jail.

The bag of change allegedly was recovered in the car. Bond for Golliday was set at $19,500 and the woman's bond was set at $11,500. Both were taken Tuesday morning to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

General Steel may relocate engineering offices within GC

Plans to locate an engineering office of General Steel Industries in the building formerly occupied by Maryland Market at 2205 Ponton Road were disclosed at a regular meeting of the Granite City Council Monday night.

The proposal was made known in a petition for a permit that would authorize establishment of the office and use of testing machinery and equipment in what is now a C-1 (commercial) zoning classification.

The petition said General Steel Industries "desires to use the location for its engineering office, including the use of stress fatigue testing machinery, apparatus and equipment, and its engineers, designers, stress calculators and supporting administrative personnel."

A spokesman later told the Press-Record that the move is intended to vacate quarters now used by the engineering department of GSI at the former plant. The division plant here. The plant formerly occupied by General Steel now is owned by Granite City Steel and the GSI engineering department has been operating there on a tenant basis.

If a proper location is not found in Granite City, the engineering department probably would be moved to St. Louis, the spokesman said. The department employs about 16 persons.

The petition, which asked that the request be referred to the City Plan Commission for a public hearing, said:

"The property (2205 Ponton

Road) is presently zoned C-1 for office use, and the above property is intended, by your petitioner to be used approximately two-thirds for office use, with the other one-third for use as a factor of engineering testing equipment apparatus and machinery above described.

Your petitioner further states that said intended use under the proposed special use permit would not be detrimental to the character of the neighborhood, traffic conditions, public utility facilities or any other matter pertaining to the public health, public safety and general welfare."

Council members referred the petition to the City Plan Commission which is expected to act in the matter in its next meeting Jan. 9.

McBride manager of GC Steel

(Picture on Page 12.)

Robert D. McBride will become vice president and general manager of the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corporation, effective Jan. 1, it was announced today by Howard M. Love, president.

McBride, 47, has been vice president of operations of Granite City Steel.

In his new position, he will have broad operational and administrative responsibilities for the entire plant in Granite City. The mill has about 5,200 employees and is the largest steel producer in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Love, who also serves as president of National's Midwest Steel Division near Chicago, said the promotion strengthens Granite City Steel's top management at a time when he expects to be faced with additional duties related to the already-announced construction of a National Steel plant in Houston, Texas, area to fabricate oil country products.

McBride joined Granite City Steel as an industrial engineer in 1958.

He was appointed general foreman in the galvanizing department in 1958 and held other operating positions, including divisional superintendent, rolling and finishing departments, and assistant general manager of operations before he became vice president. Operations in 1966. He served as an officer in the United States Army for six

Gorbe and Archer plant area annexations voted

A series of annexation ordinances in which Granite City accepted eight residential tracts in the Gorbe subdivision and took in a 23-acre tract of land adjoining the Archer Daniels Midland Soybean Processing plant were given final passage by the City Council Monday night.

The annexation of the 23-acre ADM tract climaxed several months of rezoning procedures in which the land, located directly north and adjacent to the soybean processing plant area, was rezoned from its original R-1 (single family residential) classification to M-2 (industrial) classification.

Two ordinances, one rezoning the ADM tract and the other providing for annexation of the tract by Granite City, were given final passage under rules suspensions on motions by Alderman Roy Poulos, chairman of the Council's Ordinance Committee.

The tract of unimproved land adjoining the ADM plant was acquired, a spokesman said at that time, because it was available, although there are no plans for development now.

Acquisition of the land by ADM was subject to rezoning.

In other annexation actions, the council approved ordinances adding to Granite City three lots of residential property, lots 5, 6 and 8 of block 5 in the Gorbe subdivision in one ordinance, lots 3, 11, 12 and 14 of block 5 of Gorbe subdivision in another ordinance, and lot 15 of block 5 in the same subdivision in a third bill.

These annexations brought to 49 the total number of residential properties in the area of Gary Avenue and Emert and Zipfel streets that have been made a part of the city under a plan to provide sanitary sewer service to homes of the area.

The sewer lines are now under construction and are financed by a $50,000 bond issue which will be paid by residents of the area who tap into the use the new sewer service.

Sixth Ward Alderman Gerald Farney, chairman of the council's Finance Committee who has been negotiating the annexations with the residents, said several other homes still are to be annexed.

Mayor Paul Schuler announced appointment of a seven-member Citizens Advisory Commission under the Community Development and Housing Act. The committee will study and advise the city on projects proposed for development under the federal program which is now in formative stage countywide.

The committee includes Dr. George Wilkins, Mrs. Loren Davis, Mrs. Rose McGovern, David Morgan, Norman Martinez, Howard Paschedag and Edgar Padock.

The council confirmed the appointments, as it did the additional appointment by Mayor Schuler of Harriet Hoff as a member of the Board of Appeals to a term that will expire April 30, 1976.

Pageant at St. Margaret Mary

A youth mass Christmas celebration was held this week at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church under the direction of Mrs. Ellen Wilson and Bill Luebben. Mrs. Jeanne Nunn was the music director.

More than 50 children participated in the program. All attend the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes at the local church and include youngsters from preschool age to those in senior high school.

The church was decorated by the youth for the Christmas pageant under the supervision of Miss Jo Aerne and Ed Webb.

Music was furnished by guitarists Misses Donna Lawrence, Anita Landman and Jane Harding and Alan Schuler. Delivering the liturgy was the Rev. Louis McCabe from St. Louis University High School.

During the special celebration, the older class members carried lighted candles around the altar, while the preschool youngsters presented gifts to an infant in a manger and his mother, portrayed by Mrs. Karen Mueller and infant son, Jon Paul.

85 at Business Women's party

A large unlighted Christmas tree was illuminated in stages as members of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club purchased ornaments for their own trees and donated the tree to the Salvation Army's Tree of Lights campaign.

The fund-raising project was among the highlights of the BPW's annual Christmas dinner party held in the Officers Club at the Granite City Army Installation. More than 85 members and guests attended.

Canned goods for the Salvation Army's program to aid the needy were brought to the party and the tree itself was well lighted as the evening progressed. Mrs. Lorene Sadralula and Mrs. Kathryn Smithson, co-chairmen, reported.

Honored at the event were the chapter's past presidents. Those present were Elvira Thurber, Delores Allen, Verna Longel, Dorothy Davis, Helene Rischhoff, Mary Balson, Evelyn Alford and Lillian Marzful.

Miss Annellen Smith, club president, announced that Mrs. Marzful has been appointed to the board of St. Elizabeth Hospital and Mrs. Helen Cristich has been chosen by the United Way Board.

Mrs. Lois Wetton, membership chairman, installed seven new members, assisted by Mrs. Thurber. Those installed were Mesdames Janice Herren, Blanche Ritchie, Barbara Wyatt, Kristina Christich, Adrienne Warchol, Ann Kumienczak and Hazel Rollins.

A kitchen band consisting of club members provided entertainment. Carols were sung by the group and a social evening followed.

The Jan. 15 meeting will take place at Charlie's Restaurant.

when a new boiler unit was installed at a cost of $200,000 to replace two old boilers, and a $25,000 boiler house was built.

A new machine shop was also built in the area of the control and research laboratory built by Union Star in 1923.

Another new boiler unit with power generator and motor was installed in 1939 at a cost of $75,000 and, in continued expansion, a new refining building was constructed in the 1960s.

Employment at the company, which totaled 350 in 1939, rose to 650 in 1946 after World War II and remained at 650 to 660 range for many years.

A shortage in the supply of corn several times interrupted production in 1946, but the end of the wartime drain on agricultural production insured corn supplies.

A line of internationalism at the Granite City plant was a Danish process of making corn syrup, for which the refining building was constructed.

Union Star in 1952 spent nearly $2,000,000 in remodeling and re-equipping a three-story brick building for renewal of dry starch production.

A 200-day strike by plant employees ended in January 1966.

Miles Laboratories acquired the firm and established world headquarters of its Union Division here in 1967.

The division subsequently became a part of the Marschall Division of Miles with its home office in Indiana.

Miles closed the plant March 31, 1972, and Corn Seeders, Inc., of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, a division of ADM, reopened it in 1972. It was reopened as a wet corn milling facility with a small percentage of the 497 persons employed there when Miles closed the facility.

The reopening was termed a trial period to give Corn Seeders an opportunity to study the equipment here and determine the feasibility of converting the old plant into a modern corn milling facility.

Depressed profit margins in the corn wet milling industry made prospects for updating the plant unprofitable and in October 1972, Corn Seeders discontinued its operations indefinitely.

ADM also operated the former Cargill and Miles grain elevator on Cargill Road and in spring of this year completed a new soybean crushing and processing plant adjacent to the grain elevator.

The soybean plant operated for several months, but was closed in November due to a shortage of soybeans from a poor crop this year.

ADM officials announced when the soybean plant was closed that it might reopen after the first of the year, but Tuesday they said the outlook still has not improved.

"Plans still are indefinite and there is nothing presently in the air now that would indicate the market is such we would open up the plant immediately," a spokesman told the Press-Record Tuesday.

The spokesman said the market changes day by day and the outlook could change rapidly, causing the plant to reopen.

A growing power in national politics

By RICHARD CRABE

Donald Rumsfeld of Illinois is becoming a shooting star in the political firmament.

Even the presidency is coming within the reach of this 43-year-old man who as recently as May of 1969 was congressman for the old 13th District.

Illinois has had no president since U.S. Grant held the office exactly 100 years ago.

Rumsfeld has been in politics for 12 years. On Nov. 6, 1962, at the age of 29, he was the youngest man to be elected to the 88th Congress.

That was the first of four terms, to which he was elected with an increasing majority.

In 1968, his majority was one of the five largest received by any of the 435 members of the House.

Rumsfeld began his fourth term in January 1969. Five months later he resigned to become a member of President Nixon's Cabinet and to head up the then sensitive Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO).

By fall of 1971 Rumsfeld was in an even more sensitive position as head of the President's Cost of Living Council, the office of the President's wage and price control program.

In January, 1973, the president named Rumsfeld U.S. ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He was easily confirmed by the U.S. Senate to this post.

His diplomatic post in Europe in September just before the Watergate matter began boiling.

Last September Rumsfeld's father died and the ambassador came from Brussels to Illinois for the services. On his way back through Washington, he stopped to visit with an old and close friend from his congressional days, Gerald Ford who by this time was President.

Mr. Ford, GOP power in the U.S. House all during Don Rumsfeld's congressional years, had long regarded Rumsfeld as the outstanding young Republican in Congress and destined for greater responsibility in our national government.

In 1972 before President Nixon had decided to keep Spiro Agnew as vice president, Gerald Ford had tried to persuade the president that Donald Rumsfeld would make a better Nixon running mate in 1972.

Ford had similar ideas when he was thrust into the office of President early last fall and had to pick a vice president nominee. He had a long list of possibilities. Mr. Ford trimmed the names down to three.

Rockefeller, George Bush (now ambassador to China) and Donald Rumsfeld.

Indecisive after Mr. Ford became President, he let Rumsfeld know that he was the President's choice to take over the running of the White House staff, the powerful position held by Gen. Vaughan for President Truman, Sherman Adams for President Eisenhower and H.R. Haldeman for President Nixon.

An intruder pulled a piece of plywood from a form to gain entry to the First Granite City Savings & Loan Association building being constructed on Johnson Road at Carlson Avenue. A sledge hammer was used and an air conditioning line was pulled loose.

MAIL IS STOLEN
Robert Wolf of Granite City reported that he was obtaining his mail at the Granite City Post Office, 24th Street and Madison Avenue at 10:05 a.m. Tuesday, and a man grabbed his mail from a counter and ran to an old car. Included in the mail was a check for $46, he said.

LOOT STORES SHED
Two cases of motor oil and a case of transmission fluid, worth a total of $40, were stolen from the Moto Service station, 17th Street and Madison Avenue, it was reported at 8:06 a.m. yesterday. Both customers were believed used to break the lock on the shed door.

CHARGED WITH breaking glass
Steve Campbell, 21, of 2130 Grand Ave. Apt. was arrested at his home at 1:30 a.m. Christmas day and charged with criminal damage to property.

Granite City police alleged that while on routine patrol, they noticed a window broken in a garage door of Mathew's Chevrolet, Madison and Niedringhaus avenues.

Officers said they entered a bit of blood under the window and followed a trail of blood down to outside Campbell's door where they alleged the doors were open and saw a man running from his apartment with a cut to his right hand.

He was arrested and was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where sutures were administered to close a cut to his right hand. X-rays were taken and he was returned to the custody of police.

field was reluctant. It was not, he thought, much more than a mechanic's job.

It was at the Washington visit with Mr. Ford following his father's funeral, that the President convinced Rumsfeld that he must come from Europe and take over the management of the White House operations.

With a fine ear for the political impact, Rumsfeld insisted that he did not wish to carry the imposing title of "chief of staff." He and the President agreed that the less prestigious title of "coordinator" could be used. By whatever name he is known, Rumsfeld is the most powerful position in the White House.

By Sept. 24, Aldo Beckman of the Chicago Tribune's Washington staff reported that Rumsfeld would reluctantly give up his NATO ambassadorship to return to Washington as Mr. Ford's chief operational officer.

Beckman said Rumsfeld's field's reluctance was hinged to his desire to return to Illinois and run for governor in 1976.

Clearly, the youthful Donald Rumsfeld has a plan for his future. While it would serve no useful purpose for him to admit to a belief that he could be a good president, he would be less than human if he did not consider such a possibility.

Jack Chubert, manager of Sen. Hubert Humphrey's 1970 Senate campaign and also his 1972 Presidential campaign, was indicted Monday for allegedly arranging an illegal $12,000 campaign gift from the largest U.S. dairy cooperative.

Although there are many signs of recession in the U.S., payroll employees last month totaled 78,368,000, up 453,000 from the November 1973 figure of 77,915,000.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has postponed for six months the Jan. 1 start of its regulations on "indirect pollution," under which there would have been bans and limits on construction of shopping centers, highways, stadiums and other crowd-attracting facilities. EPA Administrator Russell E. Train cited "substantial public debate and misunderstanding which need to be more effectively resolved before we proceed."

Mail volume shows decline
Mail volume during the Christmas holiday season was below that of a year ago in the Quad-City area, but not to a great extent, area postmasters agreed today. One area postmaster estimated the drop at about 10 per cent.

Post office authorities here said this morning that they had no statistics because "mail counts" no longer are kept during holiday seasons, but that it was a safe assumption that the mail volume this year was not up to that of a year ago.

For one thing there was no need this year to keep the post offices open on weekends to meet heavy demands for mail service, as was the case in previous years.

Pay schedule poses problem

Nameoki Township Highway Department employees are attempting to make their Christmas paychecks stretch to last them 24 days between paydays.

Due to an unusual set of circumstances, the employees were paid Christmas Eve and will not receive another check until Jan. 17. The employees, by contract, are paid the Friday following each regular Nameoki Township Board meeting.

The board meets the second and fourth Monday of each month and the employees receive checks the following Friday, which normally is every other week.

Several times a year, three weeks fall between town board meetings and between paydays. The situation was further complicated when Highway Commissioner Albert Bell decided to give the men their Christmas paychecks early, on Christmas Eve day, rather than on the normal payday, which would be tomorrow.

Bell said he thought the men would be able to use their pay before Christmas so they could purchase more gifts for their families. He said he normally is paid when his men are, but was told Township Supervisor Louis Whitsell had "forgotten" to sign his check when he signed the men's checks Christmas Eve.

Bell will receive his check tomorrow. At Monday night's regular town board meeting, Whitsell proposed that he be given authority to approve the payroll for Bell's employees during periods where more than two weeks passed between paydays.

The town auditors discussed Commission briefly and decided not to act upon the request, saying that Bell is responsible for determining when his employees should be paid, not Whitsell.

Whitsell contends he must receive Bell's payroll, prepare the checks and have the checks approved by the town board before he legally may pay them. He said he understands the town board's response as instructions to sign checks for the highway employees without approval, if Bell submits them.

"I will pay them if Mr. Bell tells me to," Whitsell said this morning.

Bell today said he does not intend to prepare an early payroll for his employees. He said the employees under contract are to be paid the Friday after each regular town board meeting. "I think I will have to stick with the contract," he explained.

In other business Monday night, the town board approved a $2,100 check for the State Park Street Lighting District to assist it in paying overdue bills. Illinois Power Corp. had threatened to halt service for the street lights if the bill was not paid in the near future.

Trustees of the district also had not been paid for months. The check was taken from the township's federal revenue sharing account under a ruling earlier this year that townships may cooperate with other entities in the use of revenue sharing.

The board was unable to sign a contract for expanding and remodeling the town hall as it was informed by its attorney that several minor questions must be answered before a contract can be prepared.

One question was who is to oversee the construction and the board requested Whitsell to investigate the cost of having the architect oversee the work.

No 'gold rush' expected here

By WALTER STRANGE
Private ownership of gold will become legal on Tuesday, Dec. 31, and may be purchased through Quad-City banks, although none of the local banks will keep gold on inventory.

It has been illegal for individuals to own gold bullion since April 5, 1933, but that ban now is about to end.

"We will act as an agent for our customers who might want gold and will shop to get them the best price," Ernest A. Karandjef, president of the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank and president of the American National Bank of Granite City, said today.

"I don't believe there will be much of a demand for gold, as it is not that good of an investment," Karandjef added.

Harley Davis, a vice-president of the First Granite City National Bank, said that if customers wish to buy gold, the bank will purchase it for them through correspondent banks, but there are no plans at this time to keep any on hand here.

"I doubt if we have much, if any, demand for it," James Foley, auditor of the First National Bank in Madison, commented. "If our customers want it, we can buy it for them through St. Louis."

"I doubt if any of our customers will want to speculate on the gold market. The cost of gold is already high and buying it by individuals would make it even more expensive," Foley said.

Factors which could affect individuals purchasing the metal include a record high price for gold on the world market, plus the cost of sales commissions, service charges, shipping, sales taxes, insurance and storage. These factors could increase the purchase price as much as 20 per cent, it has been estimated.

Federal agencies have prohibited savings and loan associations from dealing in gold. Some stock brokers are expected to sell gold, and it will also be available through some mail order houses and retail stores.

Feld was reported selling on the London market this week at $194.50 per ounce. With the legalization of ownership in the United States, the price is expected to go even higher.

Mexican Commission continues tradition

About 175 members attended the Mexican Honorary Commission's annual Christmas party, the first to be held in the organization's new building at 1801 Spruce St.

The traditional custom of "breaking the pinata" was performed by the children. The pinatas, filled with candy and toys, were made by Mrs. Esther Ybarra and Mrs. Norma Mendoza.

Santa Claus paid his yearly visit to the children, and a buffet luncheon was served to those present. Mrs. Dorothy Robles coordinated arrangements for the party.

Newly elected officers were introduced, including Robert Robles, president. Robles succeeds Steve Ortiz, who has held the office more than 10 years. The latter will remain a member of the board of trustees.

A formal installation and dinner-dance is planned on Jan. 11 for members only. Mrs. Alvenette Metcalf was appointed chairman of the event.

Other new officers are: Jesse Ybarra, first vice-president; Joe Becerra, second vice-president; Barbara Valencia, secretary; A. L. "Pete" Metcalf, treasurer; the Rev. Henry Sierra, corresponding secretary; Ruby Ybarra, historian and publicity; and Otilio Valencia, Mary Bridick, Donald Valencia, Juvenal Mendoza, George Howell, Ted Antoff, Hollis Donaldson, John Valencia and Steve Ortiz, trustees.

At the Christmas party, members contributed canned goods and other food items for inclusion in holiday baskets for needy families. Donald Valencia was asked to distribute the gift baskets.

Progress of renovation work being carried out in the club's new headquarters was noted by Abel Valencia, who is building chairman. The commission took formal occupancy of the building about a year ago.

Ortiz announced a New Year's Eve dance will be held at the hall. Music will be provided by the Zeke Perez band and food, beverages and setups will be available. The public is invited to attend and tickets may be obtained from Tony Valencia, chairman, or any commission member.

The remainder of the time was spent socially, with John Apperson, a magician, entertaining the youngsters and adults with feats of skill. Lennie Simpson was awarded a special prize.

"It's not too late for students to apply for admission for the winter quarter," Magac said, "but we encourage them to do it right away."

The university will accept applications until the final day of registration, provided the applications are accompanied by transcripts and other supporting documents.

New minimum wage is $2.10

Amendments in 1974 to the Fair Labor Standards Act which increased the minimum wage for covered employees to $2 an hour increase it to $2.10 effective Jan. 1, 1975.

An additional increase to $2.30 per hour will take effect Jan. 1, 1976.

The Department of Labor also has proposed a new regulation to require employers of non-agricultural employees under the age of 19 to obtain proof of age.

The department believes the requirement would protect young workers from employment that could be harmful, protect employers from unintentional violations of the law, and make enforcement an easier task. The proposal was authorized by the 1974 FLSA amendments.

It says that employers should attempt to obtain a valid age or employment certificate or a birth certificate. If these documents cannot be obtained, a baptismal record or school record together with a parent's sworn statement of age may be accepted.

"Reform-minded" is the way Rep. Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Ill.) has described the 93rd Congress in his year-end report to the local district.

"This Congress convened in 1974 with a feeling that it was time for a change in our nation's policies and the way our nation conducts its business."

"It began what at times became a painful process of restoring the balance between the executive and legislative branches of government."

"This process will continue but the 93rd Congress laid solid groundwork in its accomplishments," he commented.

Rep. Price said landmark legislation was passed in three major areas: political reform, economic reform and social welfare.

In the area of political reform, the local congressman cited the Federal Election Financing Act Amendments which strengthened campaign finance laws by limiting contributions to candidates and campaign expenditures for federal representatives.

Revision within the House itself included the opening of subcommittee chairmanships to less senior members.

"The Budget Control Act will aid in keeping federal expenditures within budget limits and also prevent Presidential impoundment of funds approved by Congress."

"Congressional duties under the 25th Amendment were exercised twice in the approval of Vice-Presidents," he noted.

"Congress also took decisive steps to pull the nation out of its recession. Energy was high on the priority list, as legislation was passed to continue research into alternatives to fossil fuel.

"Possibly the most important legislation for workers was the Emergency Jobs and Unemployment Assistance Act which will create 300,000 public service jobs nationwide, and 13 weeks of federally-funded extended unemployment compensation to those who have exhausted regular benefits or are not covered by existing programs."

Rep. Price pointed to "the intense interest of this Congress in social welfare legislation."

"The Elementary and Secondary Education Act provides $29 billion in federal aid to education through a variety of programs," he estimated.

In areas of particular interest to Southern Illinois, Rep. Price noted new housing laws to benefit lower and middle income families, and mass transportation operation and construction grants, including airport development.

The Surface Mining Control Act and the Safe Drinking Water Act were two of the environmental laws passed to help insure continuation of the ecological balance.

"Finally," Rep. Price said, "pension reform, increased Social Security and veterans' benefits and the new minimum wage law will aid workers throughout the country."

"The 93rd Congress has not solved all the ills of this nation and I am sure we all agree that much is left to be done."

"However, the dedication and concern manifested by the members of this Congress will not soon be forgotten. The efforts of the 93rd Congress will serve as a positive example to the members of the incoming 94th Congress."

Indiana is favored in Big Ten basketball

By BERNIE OWENS

Undefeated Big 10 basketball champions are rare. Since the conference's modern era started in 1940, only three teams — Illinois (1943), Ohio State (1961) and Iowa (1970) — have been able to struggle through a Big 10 season without a loss.

In most any other year, Indiana would be billed as a good possibility to join the group of unbeaten champions. The Hoosiers have 12 players returning who started two or more games last year as the team that led Michigan for the title. The returnees include first-team All-Big 10 selections John Buckner and Steve Green.

The Hoosiers, however, may have to settle for being the third team to win or tie for three straight titles. (Ohio State did it from 1961-64 and Michigan did the same in 1964-66.)

And even that may not come easy. The Big 10 had one of its best post-season performances ever last year with Indiana winning the first CAA tournament in St. Louis, Purdue taking the conference's first NIT championship and Michigan, which beat Indiana in the league's third playoff game after, finishing fourth in the NCAA tournament.

Also, four teams had a shot at the conference title going into the final week and 27 of the 70 league games were settled by five or fewer points.

From that race, 35 of 50 regular return along with several of the league's top scorers, shooters and rebounders. Added to the double round-robin schedule of 18 games, that means the Hoosiers are looking for anything but an easy time. Even with their abundance of talent, Bobby Knight's team may have to rely on history for any clear-cut advantage.

Indiana won the only 18-game schedule (1963) with a 12-1 record.

Here's a team by team review of personnel:

INDIANA

"Our basketball team has impressed me as being one of the hardest working group of players I've had in 10 years of coaching," said Knight, whose Hoosiers were 12-2 in the Big 10 and 23-5 overall last year.

"As a coach, I'm concerned about two things when I'm putting a team together: 1) I'm concerned about how hard my team is working and it's attitude; 2) I'm concerned about the improvements other teams on the schedule have made. That's something you can't judge until you're 8 or 10 games into the season."

Knight has four regular starters returning — Buckner, Green, Scott May and Kent Benson — and has only veterans to pick from for the fifth spot. John Laskowski, the "sixth man" last year, Jim Crews, who started several games as a freshman and Bob Wilkerson, a 6-4 junior, are being considered for the final starting berth. Knight said Wilkerson has the versatility to play guard, forward or center.

"I'm not that awfully concerned about a starting lineup," said Knight. "We like to play several players and everyone knows they're making a contribution. We have confidence in everyone and that helps us maintain the tempo we like and also enables us to use the individual talents we believe will be more effective against certain teams."

Knight noted the improvement of all his players, but is particularly pleased with Buckner's decision to give up football. Buckner was an All-State in both football and basketball at Thornridge and started as a defensive back the first two years at Indiana.

"Quinn is more relaxed both physically and mentally than I've ever seen," said Knight. "His contribution to our attack can't be measured by statistics and that contribution should be even greater with the constant grind of playing football and basketball being something of the past. He's playing basketball full-time now and that will show in his performance."

Knight said Doug Allen from Champan and Don Noert from Chicago Christian are the other two Illinois players. "Like last year, we're trying to build a team that relies itself in defense. Defense will give us good scoring opportunities; it can unsettle opponents to the point of taking them out of things they do best," said Knight.

PURDUE
Fred Schaus has been associated with only two teams that have won their final game of the year — the 1972 NBA champion Los Angeles Lakers as the general manager and last year's NIT champion Purdue team as the coach.

This year, Schaus says, "Our goal is to finish a winner again and the ideal place would be the San Diego Sports Arena, the site of the NCAA finals."

The Boilermakers, however, must find replacements for three of their top six players, including MVP 1973-74 forward, an All-Big 10 first team selection.

Another question mark is Jerry Nichols, a 6-4 sophomore forward who started all but one game last year — the NIT championship game. He injured his left knee in the finals and is still not up to 66.

"If Jerry can't play, we'll be devoid of experience, but we'll have the third forward spot," said Schaus.

Schaus is building around 6-11 senior John Garrett, Big 10's best leading shooter (57.6 per cent) and 10th leading rebounder (8.4 average) and Bruce Parkinson, a 6-2 junior guard.

"They represent the nucleus a good team needs," said Schaus. "Garrett is a big man who scores and Parkinson is the playmaker who makes things go."

Frank Garrett, above Mel Counts and Clyde Lovellette as the best shooting big man I've ever seen. Parkinson has been the consistent one for the last two years that he has nothing more to prove. He's the best guard in the country and both ends of the floor. I've recognized that at the NIT."

Tom Scheffer, a 6-10 sophomore, will likely induce Schaus to move Garrett to a forward position, which the third-year Purdue coach did at times last year for extra rebounding prowess.

SOPHOMORES

Gerald Thomas, 6-7 and Pat Manahan, 6-6, are also contending for first court positions and either 6-4 junior Mike Steele or 6-1 senior Dick Satterfield will join Parkinson.

MINNESOTA

Bill Musselman has four starters returning from a 12-12, 6-4 season, but none of them is assured of a starting berth. Musselman, who put together the Jim Brewer-Ron Berger — Clyde Turner Dave Winfield teams, however, is crowing about his freshman class.

"Indiana, Michigan and Purdue certainly have to be listed as the power teams," said Musselman. "The Big 10 will have more balance, more strength and more teams capable of contending. I believe we have improved enough to be a contender."

"The reasons I believe we are stronger are these: 1) all but two members are returning; and 2) what has been called the top recruited class in the nation."

Musselman, who uses a one-guard offense, includes sophomores Flip Saunders and Kenny Robinson, plus Oshon Lockhart and transfer Ricky Hardin, a walk-on, as the leading point candidates.

Norris Shaffer (6-6), and considered one of the country's best "pure shooters," returns along with Phil Piller (6-7) and senior Pete Gilead (6-7 and last year's MVP) at the forward spots. Musselman, however, lists Mark Oberding as the only player with an almost sure starting position.

Oberding is the third tallest of four freshmen at 6-8. Chad Nelson, Michael Thompson and Dave Wines are all 6-6. Mark Oberding is a 6-6 transfer from Hancock Junior College, Santa Maria, Calif., where he was a first-team All-American Judo player.

"The freshmen give us the size and physical strength I thought we lacked last year," said Musselman. "How good we'll be depends on the development of the young players. Myself, I'd rather have young inexperienced players with talent than returning players that might not necessarily have the ability of the younger players."

MICHIGAN

Johnny Orr doesn't raise any eyebrows when he says the Wolverines have suffered some losses even though they have four starters back from last year's team that was 23-5 and 12-2. Michigan beat Indiana 77-64 in the NCAA finals before losing to second-place Marquette 72-70.

"Yes, we've suffered some losses," said Orr. "The most impressive, of course, is Campanella Russell. We've had some other too — like Lionel Worrell transferring to Oral Roberts, Chuck Roberts leaving up basketball for baseball, guard Steve Grote, 5-11 senior guard Joey Johnson and 6-2 junior forward Wayne Britt back in his starting lineup."

"Michigan believed in the team concept last year and the result was a co-championship," said Orr. "We have to be a team to survive and that's the approach we're taking again."

"Campy has left for the pros (Cleveland) and I know everyone will miss him as a factor in the race. There's no doubt his departure is a blow to our hopes, but our players don't believe that. I know Campy put us in position to win several games last year, but after he did, we had to win a few without him."

Freshman Burrell McGhee, Don Johnson and Tim Kuzma are expected to develop into the Wolverines' top reserves along with guard Lloyd Schinner. McGhee is 6-7 and played some guard in high school, which should fit in to Orr's running attack.

MICHIGAN STATE

Lindsay Hairston is back and Mike Robinson has finally graduated — other than that, nothing has changed at Michigan State. Gus Ganakas will again have a small, quick team.

Hairston is the conference's defending rebounding champion (14.2 average) and the eighth leading scorer (17.7) and he's accomplished that as a 6-7 center.

Robinson won two scoring titles and finished second last year in both ends of the floor. Ganakas has a ready replacement in 5-8 Benny White, the shortest and lightest (141 pounds) player in the Big 10. White once scored more than 50 points in a freshman game.

"We've had three straight winning seasons and plan to have another," said Ganakas, who has nine returning letter men from a 13-11 and 8-6 team.

Sophomore Terry Furlow, a 6-4 forward, should combine with Hairston for the Sparling rebounding punch. Furlow averaged 15.9 points a game last year.

Bill Glover, a 6-2 senior, is back to claim his starting guard spot and will probably join White in the backcourt. Edgar Wilson, a 6-4 senior, is the top candidate to operate at forward with Furlow.

Cedric Milton, Tom McGill and Tele Davis are veteran reserves and freshmen Jeff Trof and Jim Dudley may also see some action.

"We intend to play a fast game and hope to show a lot of emotion when we don't get the break and have to set up. And I think our veterans are determined to believe in themselves last winter and it should carry over."

ILLINOIS

Gene Bartow should bring Illinois back a step or more from last year's 5-8, 2-12 record. The Illini's success depends on the development of Audie Matthews, the All-American prep star from Bloom, and junior college transfers Mike Washington and Dennis Williams.

Northwestern
"In addition to the top three returning players — Fred Taylor, the dean of Big 10 coaches going into this year," said coach Tex Winter, "entering his second season," and we'll be one of the improved teams."

Winter has Billy McKinney, Willie Wilson and Ron Cartwright returning. Jim Wallace, a 6-10 junior, and Greg Wells, a 6-7 senior from Rockford, have cleared academic problems will also be back after missing last year.

Wallace and Wells, who haven't played organized basketball in two years, can play like they once did, we believe. They'll be all right. Winter. "Like every other Big 10, we better be good or our schedule will kill us."

Ohio State
"We are practicing better and getting along better than we did last year," said coach Fred Taylor, the dean of Big 10 coaches going into this season after suffering through a 10-15, 4-10 1972-73 season. "I'm not implying any excuses for our play last year, but our concentration just wasn't what it should have been. We lost more close games than we won and we shot less than 70 per cent at the free throw line. That's indicative of a lack of concentration."

"We don't have unusual size nor do we have great fire power," said Taylor. "But I would like to think we'll have balanced scoring from several people."

Andrews, a 6-7, 224 senior who averaged 15.6 points a game, is set at one forward and the Buckeyes' leading rebounder, Steve Wenner, will start opposite Andrews. Craig Taylor, a 6-10 junior, will be the center.

Taylor will pick from sophomore Larry Bolden, senior Dan Weston and freshman Mark Bayless and Jud Wood for the starting guards. Bolden was the Buckeyes' second-leading scorer with a 12.4 average.

The Buckeyes finished eighth last year, in front of only a Northwestern and Illinois team. It was only the time a Taylor Ohio State team has finished below 500.

WISCONSIN

The Hughes twins — Kim and Kerry — are gone, so coach John Povilis will be depending on the graduate Marcus McCoy, 6-5 senior, and Bill Koehler, a 6-8 junior, to improve on 16-8, 8-6 records of last year.

"With the Hughes twins (both 6-11) having graduated, we're in process of changing our defense from a zone to our rebounding," said Povilis. "We can no longer figure everything into the defense because we don't have the postman to reject shots."

Koehler led the Badgers in scoring and rebounding in their late season game last year and averaged 12.6 points. McCoy averaged 8.3 points a game and 5-11 guard Ganakas has a ready replacement in 5-8 Benny White, the shortest and lightest (141 pounds) player in the Big 10. White once scored more than 50 points in a freshman game.

"We've had three straight winning seasons and plan to have another," said Ganakas, who has nine returning letter men from a 13-11 and 8-6 team.

Warriors toppled by tall Troy team in tournament today

Granite City High School South cagers will meet the loser of today's Hillsboro-Roxana game at 9 a.m. tomorrow in consolation competition at Edwardsville.

The Warriors were defeated 90-48 today in the first game of the Edwardsville holiday basketball tournament. Triad's Brad Droy, 6-7 senior, defensively blocked South's inside shooting game, forcing the Warriors to take long outside shots in many instances.

Droy also was the Knights' leading scorer with 28 points from the foul line, making 12 of 16 charity tosses. Triad hit 66 per cent with 16 of 24.

The Warriors committed 24 fouls to Triad's 16 and turned the ball over to the enemy 15 times; Triad lost possession five times.

Triad pulled down 10 to South's game total of 30 rebounds. Novak totaled seven rebounds and Droy four out of Triad's total of 31.

Scoring also for GCHS South were Ken Bertrand with 10 points, Hutchings eight, Fancher four, George Wilkins three and Kirk Champion, Frank Holmes and Mike McIvane, two points each.

As war clouds gathered ominously, American dependents, including author White's bride of a year, were evacuated from North China at a time when much of the country was occupied by the Japanese army.

Chronicle White recalls the humiliating surrender of the Marines in North China to the Japanese army on Dec. 8. It was understood by the POWs that their capitulation was under terms of the Boxer Protocol of 1901 in which they would be repatriated to the United States. However, the proviso was ignored by the Japanese government. The Marines spent 45 months as POWs in various camps in China and Japan. Many were tortured.

In China, the most sadistic Japanese was a civilian camp interpreter, Ishihara. He was given the sobriquet, "Boast of the East," by the POWs, because of his conclusion of hostilities, Ishihara was tried by a U.S. Army War Crimes Commission convened by Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer.

During most of the war the Marines were located at a camp near Shanghai. However, in 1945, and because of increased U.S. bombing raids, the Marines were transferred to camps in North China. At this time Japan was devastated by air attacks which resulted in acute shortages of labor and supplies to support the Japanese economy. For this reason, the Marines were shipped to Japan to augment the labor force. Arriving in Hiroshima, July, 1945, the Marines were assigned to work on coal mines.

Perhaps it was because of the peculiar circumstances of their surrender that the Marines of North China were better than did other Americans who suffered in camps on mainland Japan. Unlike the other POWs, Capt. White managed somehow to retain his notes describing the misery of nearly four years in captivity. Without bitterness or rancor, he records for history names, places and incidents that make his life a real book stand out like a ripe banana in a coal scuttle.

Historians will discover why the Marines of North China were not sent to camps at Hiroshima or Nagasaki. Otherwise, this dramatic saga of fortitude would not have been written and few, if any, of the Marines of North China would have returned alive.

No basis for injecting bitterness into the airport issue

The question of this metropolitan area's airport future has been debated primarily on the issues and the supposed facts. Unfortunately, in recent weeks there has been a trend toward accusation and denunciation, injecting needless bitterness that could prove damaging to all citizens as this region struggles to keep pace economically with the rest of the United States.

A St. Louis publication has begun directing heavy fire against the Illinois-based St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority and its highly-regarded executive director, Arven H. Saunders, a former top official of the Dulles and Washington National airports.

It would be easier to accept the tirade at face value had not the same publication a few weeks ago tipped its hand by running an unusual photograph of Saunders.

Publication of a head-and-shoulders picture of a public figure is not out of the ordinary, of course. But there usually are a variety of photos available — studio portraits and other posed, flattering views, along with random pictures taken during meetings, receptions or public talks.

Cameras may never lie, but it is possible to catch an individual with his mouth open, his eyes diverted or a fleeting, unrepresentative expression on his countenance. When a publication appears to go out of its way to dig out of its file the most unflattering photo available, one wonders if its editorial point of view is beginning to intrude upon its news section.

In any case, the basic situation is that both Missourians and Illinoisans a few years ago voiced

"1,000 per cent" support for establishment of a major new airport in an undeveloped area of Illinois next to St. Louis, with the existing Lambert Field scheduled to continue in busy use as a general airport.

Airlines, meanwhile, would utilize the safer and more spacious landing field in Illinois.

The push for a new airport was by homes and industries. By the time a big new airport could be built in Illinois, even if work began immediately, it seems certain that Lambert would be heavily congested and in need of such relief.

The push for a new airport is not meant to hurt Lambert or St. Louis County but to enable the entire bi-state St. Louis region to compete successfully for industrial headquarters, commercial activity and new residents in the coming decades.

Nor would there be serious economic disruption around Lambert, studies of "second airports" at other major cities have shown. Yet, a full-fledged anti-illinois campaign may now be developing over Missourians' fear of loss of vested interests.

Certainly, Mr. Saunders came to this region with the best of motives and has operated in a candid, competent manner that has built considerable public confidence in his ability and principles.

If there is a constructive point to be served in the issue of what degree of expenditure verification is desirable, we hope it can be pursued without further character assassination of Mr. Saunders in particular and Illinoisans in general.

Veeder Center will aid further health-safety progress

Naming of Granite City Steel's new health center for Nicholas P. Veeder, chairman and chief executive officer, honors a steelmaker whose entire 41-year career has been with the local steel mill.

At dedication ceremonies for the new building opposite the plant's main gate, President H. M. Love described Veeder as "an outstanding example of the safety-conscious executives who have made steel one of the safest of all industries."

Among the scores of major steel plants in America, Granite City Steel — a division of the National Steel Corporation — has shown steady progress in recent years and has moved up to fifth place in the nation in its safety achievements. Pres. Love commented at the outdoor program, "It's a tough league, but we hope to reach first place. We are committed to step-by-step improvement of the environment in which our employees work.

"We will provide the best possible emergency care, and will also place increased emphasis on the preventive aspects of industrial health and safety — and on early detection of illnesses and physical defects so the employees affected can be referred to their own physicians for treatment."

The new center is well equipped to further such objectives, and fittingly will be of direct benefit to what Granite City Steel regards as its biggest asset — the people whose skills and effort make possible the mammoth steel production volume.

The Veeder Health Center's name will reflect, on a permanent basis, the admiration and affection voiced here Dec. 20 for one of the most skilled of the plant's long-service employees.

When the 76th session of the Illinois General Assembly convenes Jan. 8, a full 16 per cent of the legislators will be embarking on a new career.

Newcomers include Republican Everett G. Steele of Glen Carbon and Democrat Joe Lucco of Edwardsville.

In the general election this year, 38 freshmen were elected to the House and seven to the Senate. Steele and Lucco will join Rep. Horace Calvo in the House. Sen. Sam Vadalabene of this district is a holdover member of the Senate.

Included in the new members are four additional women; two former legislative interns; two former delegates to the state Constitutional Convention; and a couple of persons who made a political comeback.

The most well-known new member among the politicians is Doug Kane of Springfield, who was elected to the House. Kane, a Democrat, served as a top assistant to House Minority Leader Clyde Chaste and as a legislative assistant to Gov. Dan Walker prior to winning his seat.

Kane got his political start when he was elected for the legislative internship program while studying for a graduate degree. Another new member who also served as a legislative intern is Sen. elect Prescott Bloom, R-Peoria.

Leading the new women legislators is Anne Miller, a homemaker from Illinois, who served as a Constitutional Convention delegate.

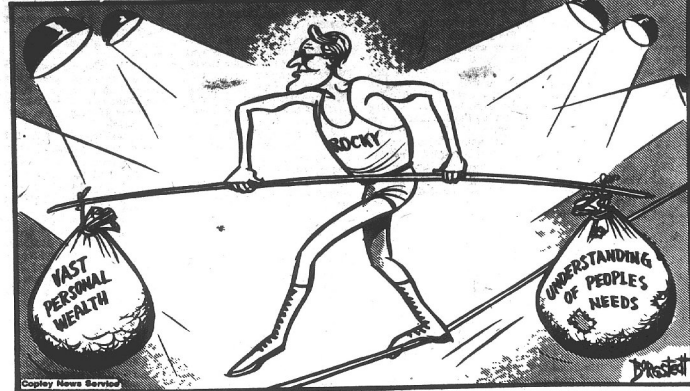

The other females are Jane Barnes of Oak Lawn, Betty Lou Reed of Deerfield, Helen Saterfield of Urbana and Wywyette Young of East St. Louis.

With the defeat of Rep. Peggy Smith Martin, D-Chicago, the number of women in the 177-member House increases to 12 from eight. In the Senate, three of the 59 members are women.

The other new member to serve with Anne Miller as a "con" delegate is Dwight Friederich of Centralia. Friederich, though is not exactly a new member — he served 12 years in the Senate prior to his election this time to the House.

Another new comer who has been around the legislative halls is Sen. elect Robert Egan, D-Chicago, who served one term prior to being defeated for reelection in 1972.

Other freshmen don't fall into any special category, but also are worth noting: Jesse Madison is a blazer from Chicago's West Side; Guy Stuebelied is a Rockford law leader; William Marovitz of

Holiday blessing—health recovered

To the Editor:
As the Christmas season progressed, I realized even more how much I have to be thankful for. And I am so grateful.

At Christmas a year ago, I was in a nearby nursing home as the result of a traffic accident three months prior to Christmas.

The people I came into contact with were truly kind and considerate, and always good to me. I appreciate their devotion to their patients, and also appreciate the many friends and relatives who put forth extra effort to make our Christmas a pleasant one.

Now I am home, and I am thankful to all who were so gracious to my husband, the Rev. Roy Reeves, and to me at the Christmas season last year and all the year through.

I am most thankful to my Heavenly Father for His mercy and love toward me and my husband. We have almost fully recovered from that near-fatal accident. Thank you, God, and thank you, world.

SIUE needs sunshine—not shadow

To the Editor:
Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville would have its ties with the institution at Carbondale severed completely under terms of a bill I have preferred.

It's not any secret that I have been working for independence and autonomy for SIU at Edwardsville for many years. In fact, I introduced similar legislation in the last session of the legislature.

However, the mission and scope statement adopted at the recent meeting of the Board of Trustees of the system for Edwardsville only deepens my conviction that the time has come for this urban commuter institution to have the power and authority to develop in terms of its own inner strengths to meet the needs of the community it was founded to serve.

Many interested and concerned citizens gave generously of their time and money to bring higher education into this area. They have the right to watch SIU at Edwardsville have the chance to grow in its own sunshine.

Therefore, I am introducing this legislation to take the Edwardsville shadow and to permit the institution to be guided by its own Board of Trustees.

Technology for Lambert capacity plan doesn't exist

By ARVEN H. SAUNDERS
Executive Director
St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority

The Parsons' study has not reached the point where positive conclusions can be drawn, and the final report is not due until next month. They will be of direct benefit to what Granite City Steel regards as its biggest asset — the people whose skills and effort make possible the mammoth steel production volume.

The Veeder Health Center's name will reflect, on a permanent basis, the admiration and affection voiced here Dec. 20 for one of the most skilled of the plant's long-service employees.

The new one issue which Parsons is exploring, however, is the possibility of some new technology which is still in the research and development stage.

Parsons is exploring the possibility of increasing the airport capacity at Lambert through the implementation of this as yet hypothetical new technology.

This is the principal issue being raised by Parsons. Even if most of this new technology becomes a reality, we and our consultants seriously question that it will provide the capacity increases suggested by Parsons.

For example, Parsons relies heavily on a so-called "wake turbulence" sensor system to increase peak hour capacity.

Following the larger jet was completely upset by wake turbulence and crashed.

R. Dixon Speas advises us that their discussions with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Federal Aviation Administration indicate that while the new "wake turbulence sensors" proposed by Parsons would increase the presence of turbulence, they would not eliminate wake turbulence and, therefore, would not increase capacity.

Parsons has assumed a theoretical ideal queuing of arrival aircraft. In real life, aircraft will not arrive in an order which will give an optimum capacity.

The U. S. Airways System cannot be operated in such a manner to accommodate St. Louis capacity problems.

Speas has analyzed Parsons' proposals using real life arrivals and has found capacity will range from 65 to 70 peak hour operations, not the 90-plus indicated by Parsons.

Parsons' proposed capacity would be substantially increased by introduction of microwave instrument landing systems. We and FAA believe that microwave systems will produce minimal, if any, capacity increases.

It should be pointed out that Parsons first predicted that as high as 136 peak hour movements would be possible at Lambert.

In successive briefings, these figures' range down to 82 and may be reduced further.

Our preliminary reviews indicate that closely spaced runways, as at Lambert, even with all the new technology instrumentation, do not provide the high IFR capacity which is required.

Previously, Parsons has indicated that Runway 6-24, representing an investment of about $12 million, would have to be eliminated in order to obtain maximum utilization of the closely spaced parallel runways, but their position is now unclear.

whether it could be constrained to the degree which Parsons has indicated.

The internal Lambert highway scheme proposed by Parsons implies that these improvements would result in an adequate highway capacity and adequate traffic flow.

Parsons ignores the fact that the latest East-West Gateway computations indicate the highway network around Lambert will be beyond its capacity, even without any airport traffic.

In effect, the Parsons internal roadway improvements would allow traffic to reach the jam-up outside airport boundaries faster, but would not solve the problem.

This report should be considered as a preliminary overview of the Parsons tentative findings to date. Later analysis must include terminal facilities, aircraft gates, air freight and general aviation — to mention only a few of the many topics to be covered — to say nothing of the problem of justifying the financial soundness of an expenditure of $150 million when these facilities will be obsolete in less than 10 years.

Justice Department studies Bell monopoly

By BENJAMIN SHORE

WASHINGTON — When a consumer wants an electric lamp, he may buy one at a store of his choice, take it home and plug it in. If it doesn't work, he can return it for repair or replacement.

Buy a gas stove and it is hooked up by the dealer to the home's gas line.

So why can't a consumer buy and use a telephone the same way?

Why are telephone companies, unlike gas and electric utilities, permitted to levy high fees on anyone who buys a phone from a store, fees high enough to discourage most buyers?

That is one of the many questions that the Justice Department hopes to have answered as a result of its recently filed antitrust suit against the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which owns and operates 82 per cent of the nation's telephones.

The government believes there can and ought to be free and effective competition in many aspects of the complex communications industry.

Gas and electric utilities are government-regulated monopolies only up to the front door of a house, factory or office building. Furthermore, government and industry regulations have assured consumers that stove and lamp meet basic standards and will work with all gas and electric supply systems. What, then, is so mysterious about the telephone that has permitted AT&T to enjoy a local government-sanctioned monopoly? Why do AT&T and its defenders say only AT&T can provide such consumer products efficiently and at low cost?

The government and growing segments of the communications industry say the mystery was stripped away by technological advances over at least the last decade. In other words, they argue that Western Electric, the equipment manufacturer owned by AT&T, is not the only company capable of making modern equipment.

There are many domestic and foreign companies making equipment — telephones, switchboards, data transmission systems — superior in capability and cheaper than Western Electric equipment offered by Bell System telephone companies.

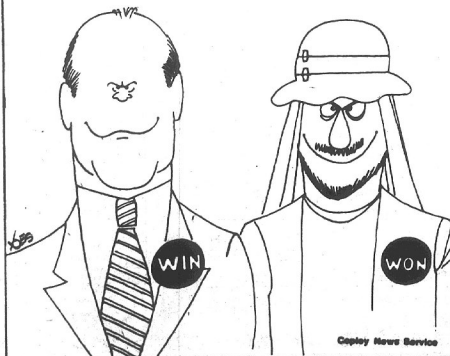

In hearings last year before the Senate antitrust subcommittee, an executive of Montgomery Ward testified that the giant retailer is selling over $1 million a year by buying non-Bell System equipment for data transmission linking the corporation's computer around the country.

Montgomery Ward also is replacing many of its Bell System telephones with equipment with competing equipment that has provided greater communication flexibility at lower cost, the executive reported.

The subcommittee, chaired by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., has collected evidence for several years on the alleged anticompetitive activities of AT&T. The files were made available to the Justice Department and reportedly played a role in convincing the government to broaden its suit.

The files bulge with reports of Bell System policies that effectively prevent small businesses from buying their own telephone equipment to replace what is provided by the local telephone company. The accuracy of these reports will be tested in the courtroom through the government's suit.

Pamela Sue Tucker and Wayne Davis are wed

Miss Pamela Sue Tucker and Wayne Davis were united in marriage at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 15 in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Willis L. Barton at the Apostolic Pentecostal Church in Cahokia.

Parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Tucker, reside at Rural Route One, Columbia, Ill. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Lloyd Davis, 517 English Place, Mitchell.

Wedding selections were furnished by Dornalee Kessler at the organ and the soloist, Carol Ashcraft.

White pom poms and greenery decorated a tall arch placed before the altar. Burning tapers in spiral candelabra illuminated the sanctuary for the evening service.

For her wedding, the former Miss Tucker chose a full length gown fashioned of Chantilly lace and complemented with a lace bordered mantilla veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations interspersed with pastel shades of stephanotis.

Mrs. Terry Hoffman, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a long pink crepe gown featuring a ruby velvet collar and cuffs and she held a velvet covered Bible topped with pink carnations.

Miss Susan Garner, Mrs. Mike Davis, a sister-in-law of the groom, Miss Terri Jenkins, the bride's cousin and Miss Kathy Tucker, a sister of the bride, served as bridesmaids. All wore frocks to match the honor attendant's dress only in green, orchid, blue and yellow and carried Bibles with carnations in harmonizing shades. Debbie Hackley, the can-didlighter, chose a moss green velvet gown. The flower girl, Wendy Jung, wore a dress similar in style to the bridal gown and carried a lace basket filled with white flowers.

Mike Davis, a brother of the groom, was the best man. Another brother, Steve Davis, Larry Davis, an uncle of the groom, Larry Parcus, the groom's cousin, Frank Snider and Mike Lewis completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

A cousin of the groom, Bobby Davis, was the ringbearer. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Cahokia Village Hall.

The couple now lives in Dupo, Ill. The bride is a graduate of Columbia High School. Her husband was graduated in 1971 from Granite City High School. He is employed at Granite City Steel and attends Bailey Technical School, St. Louis.

Mrs. Charles Kohl, 2340 Gary Ave., was hostess to the Gardenaires Garden Club annual Christmas party. She served a turkey dinner at tables decorated in seasonal motifs. Each place was marked with a tree ornament which had been made by Mrs. A. A. Malotki and Mrs. Earl Gies. Members answered roll call, preceding the business session, with information pertaining to the vegetable Brussels sprouts.

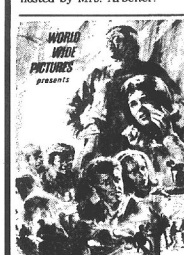

Mrs. Kohl announced the Lincoln Memorial Gardens had sent the club a membership certificate in appreciation for its support for the Gardens.

She also read a Christmas story followed by a panel discussion on facts and legends of the holiday season.

Mrs. John Farrell of Fosterberg, Ill., formerly of this area, presented each member with a hand-decorated thimble she had made inscribed with a rose, which is the club flower.

Others attending were Mesdames Abe Shannon, Alex Tarporf, Mary Kristian, Jerry Arbeiter, C. E. Eads, William Long and Roy Hermann.

The Jan. 9 meeting will be hosted by Mrs. Arbeiter.

56,000 items in area's unique folklore archive

Today, Grandma's favorite quilt serves a higher purpose than simply acting as a coverlet for her grandchildren. The quilt's pattern and its construction materials tell folklorists how the American experience has tempered generations of families, according to John Oldani, assistant professor of English language and literature at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Quilt patterns are only one type of American folklore that Oldani researches and collects. More than 56,000 documents, oral texts, items, and other materials collected by the SIUE professor have been turned over to the Southern Illinois Folklore Archive. The archive was established at the University this fall to collect, catalog, and preserve materials which pertain to the traditions and cultures of Illinois history.

Quilt patterns are known by different names in different parts of the country, according to Oldani. "Bear claws" in one section of the country become "bear paws" when they reach another area. "Broken dishes" are known as "broken plates" some place else. "We're collecting names of quilt patterns as they are known here in southern Illinois," Oldani said.

The folklore archive is the only one of its kind in the state and has been recognized and approved by the Library of Congress for listing in the Directory of Libraries and Museums. Numerous amateur and semi-professional folklorists have collected and published lore from the southern part of the state, but a central archive had never been recognized for the wealth of materials pertaining to this region.

Oldani's interest in Illinois folklore began through his Croatian grandmother. He has been collecting folklore texts since he was in high school and chose the subject as a concentration when working for his doctorate in American Studies at Washington University.

The migration of European cultures to the United States at the turn of the century and the intermarriages between these cultures created a "melting pot" of traditions. Oldani questions if the immigrants to this part of the Midwest will carry out and believe the lore they brought here from the "old countries." He wonders how proverbs, tales, legends, stories of their heroes, vocabularies, recipes, costumes, handicrafts, joke fads, insults, graffiti, and speech trends have changed. He studies transitions of jokes as they are passed from one generation to another.

THE ONLY FOLKLORE ARCHIVE in Illinois is located on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Looking at some of the 56,000 items in the collection is John Oldani, assistant professor of English language and literature at SIUE.

"Jesus jokes, elephant jokes and Confucian jokes are newer examples of American folklore," Oldani said. "It's the communication of group to group, age to age, and parent to child. It's the informal learning process within a society that is passed down through the generations orally," he said.

According to Oldani, the Slavic Easter tree is an example of the way traditions are tempered in their voyage across the sea and through the years. The tree is a defoliated tree branch decorated much like a Christmas tree. It represents the cross on which Christ died. During the Easter season, members of the family are encouraged to make and hang their own ornament on the tree, expressing their talent and what the season means to them.

The tradition of the Slavic Easter tree is no longer used in Europe. But descendants of those Croatians who came to America many years ago still trim one.

Little pockets of ethnic groups still exist in the St. Louis metropolitan area. According to Oldani, who is of Italian and Croatian descent, there are more than 8,000 people of Slavic origin in the area. Woven into their family lives are the oral traditions that must be collected before the old people have all died, Oldani said. Oldani has enrolled in a Croatian language course so he can interview immigrants living in the St. Louis area.

SIUE is the only university in the state offering a course in folklore. Oldani sees this as an opportunity to preserve folk cultures in Illinois. "This is the class where you'll meet your grandmother," he said.

As Oldani mentioned the folklore class at a nursing home he visited recently, an elderly citizen told him, "It's about time they were teaching something worthwhile in college."

"These people have a lot to give us," Oldani said. "We've got to collect the oral folk texts while we still can."

Arrested on campus

Daniel G. Hodge, 23, of 2118 State St., Granite City, was taken to the Madison County Jail Monday afternoon on four charges filed by security officers of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He was charged with criminal damage to property, aggravated battery, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest in connection with incidents on Parking Lot C and in the University Center.

Officers alleged that Hodge and a male companion stopped a car occupied by two Edwardsville women and attempted to enter the automobile in the parking lot. The women locked the doors of the car and refused to talk to the men. The men allegedly kicked the car and harassed the women before leaving the parking lot and walking into the University Center.

The women notified security officers, who located two men in the Center. Officers alleged that Hodge was uncooperative and that an incident developed, leading to his arrest. The companion was not charged. Hodge is not a student at SIUE.

Enter station

A cash register and cigarette vending machine at Ralph's Texaco, 2200 Madison Ave., were pried open and an undetermined amount of change was stolen. It was reported at 2:40 a.m. today.

A soft drink vending machine outside also was damaged and the lock was broken, but entry was not gained. The station was entered by breaking a pane of glass on the north side.

TOOLS TAKEN

Sam Apponey, 1682 Second St., Madison, reported to police at 11:05 p.m. Tuesday that a set of tools, two cans of silver paint, and a white desk telephone were stolen from his home with a total value of $350.

Some brightening of the employment outlook for 1975 college graduates

"The national outlook for job opportunities for college students graduating in 1975 may not be as dismal as predicted earlier, according to government officials at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and other colleges and universities.

If a student is black, or female, or both, job opportunities in many fields are good, according to a national survey.

If the student is majoring in accounting or engineering, his chances are better than last year and the starting salaries are higher, the survey reports.

At SIUE, the demand for accounting majors is good, but it ever has been, according to David Van Horn, SIUE Placement Director. During the fall quarter, numerous business and industrial firms scheduled interviews on campus.

A 1974 graduate of the University of Mississippi, Oxford, with a bachelor of arts degree in education, Lieut. Conway entered the Marine Corps in May 1974.

"We had an excellent fall," Van Horn said. Like the rest of the country, "at SIUE, the demand seems to be for accountants and engineers, mostly civil, electrical and mechanical."

"There has been a noticeable increase in starting salaries. Salaries for women are going up and are beginning to reach figures comparable to those of males," he said.

On the other hand, the placement office is still serving requests from 1974 graduates. It is also receiving a number of inquiries from earlier graduates seeking jobs after being laid off from their first jobs.

There are fewer positions being offered in the fields of teaching and social service work, Van Horn said.

"Our teacher candidates are having trouble finding positions. There are jobs. However, the people must be willing to go where the jobs are," Van Horn said. The university sent out over 500 inquiries to private, state and federal agencies to determine where social workers may find employment. Returns from the inquiries are now coming in.

The Placement office has pamphlets available on where some teaching positions may be located. The booklet offers advice on how the graduate can get a job in a tight market, lists overseas teaching opportunities and gives tips on how to prepare a resume. They are free and available until the supply is exhausted, Van Horn said.

"Employers want more than people with specialized training. They want an adaptable person who can bring to the organization creative ideas and who has the ability to solve management problems," Van Horn said.

"Individuals seeking jobs should have some firm goals on where they want to be several years from now," he added.

Summer jobs will be few. "I don't think there will be a lot of summer jobs. Students must make some inquiry of summer camps. They are secure," Van Horn said.

SIUE students who will graduate in 1975 are being encouraged to register with the Placement office as soon as they can.

"We will assist anyone, if they make their needs known and are willing to work with us," Van Horn said. "There are jobs, but the hunt for them will be longer and harder."

May name Southwest agency to coordinate area treatment plans to curb water pollution

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency will hold a public hearing Tuesday, Jan. 7, in Collinsville to discuss the possible designation of Madison, Monroe and St. Clair Counties as an area-wide water treatment management planning area and the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Regional Planning Commission (SIMAPC) as the agency responsible for the planning. Under federal law, a "national goal" to be reached by 1983 is water quality that "provides for the protection and propagation of fish, shellfish and wildlife and provides for recreation in and on the water," according to Dr. Richard H. Brice, director of the Illinois EPA.

"In places like this three-county, highly industrialized area, water quality problems are acute."

"In addition to the municipal and industrial wastewater discharges, stormwater also hurts our streams. Here we have pollutants from one source combining with pollutants from another," Brice said. He continued: "We can have clean, safe water. We can achieve the national goal. But we can't do these things without looking at all the area's problems systematically."

"This area-wide approach stresses planning by regional planning commissions. It asks that these groups and communities work together to find and implement solutions to their common water pollution problems."

"Local-level elected officials will be at the hearing. I hope that we'll also see interested residents."

Following the hearing, should the designation be made, and should the United States EPA approve such a designation, SIMAPC will be eligible for a federal planning grant to prepare an areawide waste treatment management plan for the designated area.

The hearing will be held at the Collinsville Holiday Inn on Route 157 south of Interstate 70, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Additional information is available from the Illinois EPA's Collinsville office, 117 West Main, Collinsville, Ill. 62224 and the SIMAPC office, 203 West Main, Collinsville.

End of the year is near, tax planning looms ahead

Because important tax law changes are likely in 1975, it is essential that taxpayers survey their prospective liabilities now, before the end of 1974, and take or delay actions to hold those liabilities to a minimum, CNA-Citywires advised today.

Co-hosted by the Illinois CPA Society, which has compiled a list of recommendations based in part on the prospects for legislative action, the meeting could be adopted in the year ahead.

One change proposed is an increase in the $2,000 maximum standard deduction (taken by those who don't itemize).

The certified public accountants suggest that the many taxpayers who stand to benefit if such increase goes through explore the advisability of itemizing deductions and taking as many deductible expenses as possible this year.

Other reasons the CPAs give for planning to take the standard deduction next year are these additional proposed tax changes, any of which would make itemizing less attractive:

1. Knocking out the deductibility of state gasoline taxes.

2. Repealing the exclusion of the first $100 of dividends from taxable income.

3. Raising the exclusion of deductible medical expenses from 3 percent of adjusted gross income to 5 percent.

4. Imposing an exclusion of 3 percent on casualty losses, over and above a new, flat exclusion of $50 per casualty.

5. Allowing deduction of "miscellaneous" expenses only in excess of $200.

Another significant reform suggested to Congress is drastic reduction or elimination of the tax on capital gain realized in the sale of one's home.

If this change is adopted, taxpayers who sell their homes for more than they cost would be given a once-in-a-lifetime exemption from the capital gains tax on houses selling for up to $35,000 and a reduced tax on sales above that amount.

"This would appear to be a good reason for putting off until next year a home sale if it is expected to be the last such sale one will ever make," says Clairen Herte, chairman of the Illinois CPA Society.

"However, one has to keep in mind that the change in the capital gain tax is far from being an accomplished fact.

"The mere possibility of such an important change would be rather shaky grounds for passing up a good offer for a home one wishes to sell."

Still looking ahead to proposals before Congress, the CPAs cite another that would affect the capital gains taxes on other assets — an increase in the capital gain exclusion the longer an asset has been held, up to 70 percent.

This proposal might suggest putting off sales that will result in big gains, but again Mrs. Herte reminds taxpayers that other considerations may be more important than the tax consequences, especially since the latter are only possibilities.

One piece of end-of-year advice having nothing to do with the pending tax law changes concerns taxpayers whose employers may have withheld income tax that they should have.

To avoid having to pay a 6 percent penalty along with the amount underpaid, the CPA Society suggests that a quick computation be made of the probable tax liability for 1974 and the total tax that will have been withheld.

If it appears that taxes will be withheld less than the taxpayer's liability, the taxpayer should consider making up the difference, if there is still time to do so, she suggests.

New management for Pere Marquette lodge

The Pere Marquette State Park lodge near Grafton, which was closed for remodeling and inventory Dec. 15, will reopen Jan. 1 under new management. Illinois Conservation Director Anthony Dean made the announcement Tuesday. The lodge is operated as a park concession, under private supervision.

Reservations previously accepted for the two-week period were canceled and patrons were notified, Dean said.

Both the lodging and dining room facilities will be open for business Jan. 1, he said.

Hurt in tavern

Stanley Lashley, 19, St. Louis, was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital after being injured in a disturbance at Victor's Tavern, 2001 Illinois Ave., during the weekend.

Witnesses said one man became angered over a comment, displayed a pistol and fired a shot. Lashley fell to the floor and some felt he had been shot.

A brother of the man who fired the shot also displayed a pistol, but another man grabbed him and kept him from firing, it was related.

Other witnesses said the man who fired the gun aimed at the ceiling, and some felt falling plaster. Authorities believe Lashley was struck with a beer glass moments after the shot was fired.

Lashley suffered a cut to the right side of his head. Sutures were administered at the hospital. X-rays were taken and he was released.

Less oil consumption key to improving economic outlook—Percy

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., acknowledging that he is going counter to public opinion, has called for a 10-cent federal gasoline tax which would go to 20 cents a gallon on Jan. 1, 1976.

The gasoline tax bill, to cut U.S. oil consumption by 10 per cent by the end of next year, was one of five he introduced as energy conservation measures.

Percy's gas tax, however, does have rebate features. Percy proposed, in addition to the gas tax, a tax incentive program for new car purchases based on fuel efficiency, repeal of the income tax deductions for state and local gasoline taxes, strict enforcement of the 55-miles-an-hour speed limit and abolition of the Highway Trust Fund.

Percy told a news conference he is well aware of public opinion but that a threatening economic crisis calls for stern measures.

"I have not always gone with popular opinion," Percy said in response to questions. "I think popular opinion in this instance is wrong."

"I feel deeply that positive steps must be taken. We can't withhold this legislation."

Percy told reporters that, so far, in response to deepening economic gloom, "there has been a vacuum." He suggested that he is trying to fill it. He said President Gerald Ford has in effect told Congress that if it does not like his proposals, to give him some alternative suggestions.

"I am aware that some of the measures I am advocating initially will be burdensome," Percy said in a statement. "But we all must make sacrifices now to avoid economic disaster later."

His statement said the world is in the grip of inflation and recession that threatens the collapse of the world monetary order. "In my view," he added, "the best solution to the rapidly deteriorating economic situation lies in bringing down the world price of oil."

"We must reduce worldwide consumption far below the rate of production by the oil-producing countries." Percy said that by the end of 1975, the United States must cut oil consumption by 10 per cent, or 1.7 million barrels a day. He believes this is feasible because the U.S. "wastes more energy than any other country."

Under his fuel conservation tax plan, a driver would get an annual tax credit on the first 500 gallons purchased. This would total $50 the first year and $100 in subsequent years.

This is the amount of gasoline the Federal Energy Administration estimates the average driver uses annually for "essential" driving. Low income persons who pay no federal income tax could get an annual cash refund instead of the tax credit given those who file returns. Percy contends that income tax deductions for state and local gasoline taxes benefit only those taxpayers whose incomes are high enough to warrant itemized deductions and they are "least in need" of such benefits.

Percy would suspend federal highway funds to states failing to enforce the 55-miles-an-hour limit.

He says the limit has saved 10,000 lives this year and could save 73 million barrels of oil each year if it is enforced. Abolition of the Highway Trust Fund would make the federal gas tax available to finance mass transit in general, Percy argues.

"A trust fund designed for highway construction is anachronistic in our present economic condition," the senator maintains.

TREE OF LIGHTS WAITING LINE. A line developed Monday afternoon as recipients gathered outside the Venice Recreation building to pick up their Salvation Army food baskets and toys for families with small children. Although the line became long it moved right along. Steve Bristol was chairman of this year's "Tree of Lights" campaign that provided 525 food baskets for needy families. (Press-Record Photo)

Everything getting up-to-date in those musty state archives

By MARY LOU MANNING
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

The building was built in the 1930s and some of the 1930s practices were still in use when John Daly took over as director of the State Archives in August.

"When I came I found that the Archives was filling up 'high cost space,'" he commented this week. "There are a lot of things here that should be stored someplace else to avoid the necessity of building another building."

As a result, Archives personnel are conducting a complete review of what is stored in the building to determine if, indeed, it should be there.

"The personnel are reviewing 50,000 cubic feet of record space," Daly said.

The seven-story building contains 12 levels of storage space, and employs the department vault system.

In other words, there are vaults containing records of agencies, commissions, code departments, etc., in the west, east and north vault areas located on the perimeter of the building. The archives stacks take up the south side.

All of the materials are above the first three floors, which are used for office space.

When an inventory of the vaults is completed — it should take about a year — one of three things will be done with each record: it will be stored in the central depository, sent to the record storage center or disposed of in a specified manner.

"The decision on what is to be done with each record will be left up to the individual office from which it came in cooperation with the Archives office, the State Records Commission and the Archives' records management division."

"This sounds as if it involves many people when in fact, members of one unit are often members of another," the director said. "For example, I am a member of the Commission as well as the Archives office."

In addition to the review of all materials, another project is under way to catalogue all of the records in the Archives into a comprehensive manual.

The present one, "A Guide to Records Holdings," is a sketchy listing of record groups and series found in the depository.

"The new manual will be computer-indexed, allowing for a more specific listing of what information is available on any given subject," he said.

Scheduled for release in 1976, the catalogue project involves three staff members. At the present time, they are taking the preliminary inventory, just completed after a year's work, and compiling it into a list of group titles.

"We have about 260 group titles," said Vicky Irons, head of the project. "These titles represent what produced the record. For example, the titles include the names of the originating code departments, commissions, elected officers, etc."

By law, the Archives serves as a repository of state records. This includes all books, papers, maps, photographs and other official documentary materials, made, procured, executed or received by any agency in accordance with the State Records Act.

The records on deposit may be used by the public or other state agencies in the Springfield building.

Committee favors retaining annual auto license plates in Illinois

An Advisory Committee for Motor Vehicle Registration and Tinting Matters, appointed by Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett, has recommended that Illinois stick to annual, instead of multi-year, license plates unless the cost becomes too high.

The committee was appointed by Howlett in March 1975. Chairman is William H. Morris

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
of Chicago, director of the National Conference of Bar Examiners.

Other members are Clarence I. Emrickson, Niles police chief; John W. Clark, of Danville, sheriff of Vermilion County; Dwight E. Pitman, Springfield, state police superintendent;

Silver Spring, Springfield, of the Illinois Local Governmental Law Enforcement Officers Training Board, and John E. Baerwald, director of the University of Illinois Highway Traffic Safety Center at Urbana-Champaign.

On other issues, the committee recommended:
1. If production and distribution costs of annual plates become excessive, a two-year plate be issued with the fee for both years paid at once.
2. Uniform renewal of all auto license plates at the same time of year be retained, instead of a staggered issuance.
3. All automobiles should pay the same license plates fee, regardless of horsepower, weight, seating capacity or other characteristics.

This recommendation was questioned by Secretary Howlett. He said he would seek further advice from fuel conservation experts.

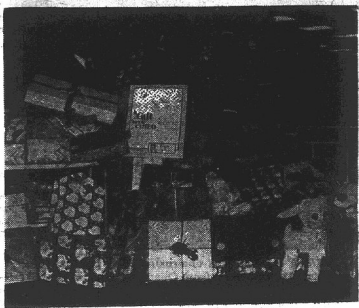

He personally felt cars which burn more gasoline per mile should pay a higher license plate fee than the smaller cars with better mileage.
4. The fee for transfer of registration from one car to another be raised from $2 to $5.
5. Two plates continue to be issued for each car—front and rear.
6. No county or other local area designation be made on state plates.
7. Motor vehicle title and registration information be combined into a "Regititle" format—already implemented by Howlett before the committee's report was issued.

8. If a validation system should become necessary for future multi-year license plates, a tamper-proof decal or sticker of adequate size should be affixed for both plates. The committee said that stickers or tabs, about a square inch in area and now used in other states, are too small.
Thirty-five states and the District of Columbia use multi-year license plates, varying from two to five years.
Eight others using annual plates in 1974 have authorized multi-year plates in 1975. Illinois is one of seven using annual plates and not planning to switch next year.
The committee said multi-year plates would save money but would make enforcement more difficult.

The annual system replaces worn or illegible plates, while updating the vehicle information record.
States which use multi-year plates generally charge an annual fee, anyway, it was noted; it is publicly acknowledged by the little tabs or stickers fixed on the plates. But the identification or serial number can be read only at very close range, the committee asserted.
"A police officer trying to judge if a license plate is up-to-date has to look closely to tell from a tiny tab," a spokesman said.
"If registration periods are staggered, the officer must always watch two sets of valid license plates—those not yet expired and those just renewed.

"In Illinois, the renewal period is limited to five months late in the calendar year and only the following year.
"If the renewals were staggered, so that one-twelfth of all the cars were registered each month, the secretary could handle the work with a uniform number of permanent employees instead of a smaller permanent staff and larger temporary staff. Here, again, money would be saved, but at the expense of enforcement."
Illinois and Missouri are the only states which now charge for auto license plates according to horsepower.
Illinois' fees are $30 for cars of 35-horsepower or more, and $18 for less than 35 hp.
Twenty-four states set fees by weight, and 22 set a flat fee for all.

Idaho charges by the age of the car. North Carolina and Wyoming, by seating capacity, and Oklahoma by the price of the car.
The committee said the relative benefit to an auto driver using a roadway is not usually related to physical characteristics of the car.
Processing of registration forms would be easier if the characteristics weren't checked against a variable fee schedule, it was noted.
The committee found that the $2 fee for transfer of registration doesn't cover the administrative costs of processing the form. It should be raised to at least $5, the recommendation said.

GIFTS FOR KIDDIES. Salvation Army Captain Ronald Kerley is nearly hidden by a small mountain of Christmas gifts. The wrapped gifts are collected each year by employees of First Granite City National Bank during their annual "A Gift For The Child" Christmas program. The gifts are donated by employees, customers and friends of the local bank. Each year, the gifts are turned over to the Salvation Army, just before Christmas, to brighten the holiday of less fortunate youngsters throughout the Quad-City area. This is the third year of the "Gift for The Child" program, which bank employees hope to make an annual tradition.

Pre-clinical training utilizes live patients

Students are working with "live" patients instead of manikins in the pre-clinical training programs of the department of prosthodontics of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville School of Dental Medicine.
An article describing innovative teaching methods used by the department was written by Dr. Richard E. Coy, chairman of the department of prosthodontics, and Dr. Paul D. Arnold, head of the section of complete prosthodontics, for the December issue of the Journal of Dental Education, published by the American Association of Dental Schools.

Prosthodontics pertains to the construction of artificial appliances to replace missing teeth and sometimes other parts of the mouth.
The dental school professors said a "pre-clinical-clinical" laboratory approach to complete denture prosthodontics was developed at the school because "more beneficial and more efficient methods" of teaching preclinical courses are necessary "with the advent of newer curricula, more material to be covered and less time to prepare the student."
In the past, students practiced on manikins in pre-clinical laboratories, the professors said. By combining pre-clinical laboratory procedures with clinical procedures in the dental clinic, three advantages are cited:
"The student becomes familiar with clinical equipment and environment; the student observes and works with a patient, becoming cognizant of the patient's needs, responses and reactions to the treatment; and the student correlates pre-clinical and clinical techniques by always performing in the same 'live' environment."

The dental clinic at the school's Alton center is designed primarily for the educational needs of the students, but it offers comprehensive patient care for both children and adults.
According to Dr. Coy and Dr. Arnold, there have been numerous benefits for patients, students and faculty in combining the pre-clinical programs with clinical training.

School board grants leaves

The Granite City Board of Education has granted leaves of absence to Mrs. Jane Vassilopoulos, a middle primary teacher at Namecki School, through the 1975 school year; to Mrs. Janice E. Carnioy, a middle intermediate teacher at Wilson School, through June 6, 1975, and to Mildred Hale, a cafeteria worker until the beginning of the 1975-76 school term.

Harold Hillmer, Employee Relations Administrator, gave a progress report on the construction of a house in the 2300 block of Clark Avenue by vocational training students.

He announced the house should be completed in April and will then be advertised for sale.

Floor plans for a proposed house to be erected on Bermuda Lane, beginning in March still are under advisement and when the plans are completed they will be submitted to the board for approval, Hillmer reported.

The School Board also agreed to contact the R. W. Harmon & Sons, Inc., with offices locally and in Kansas City, Mo., to provide four vans to replace the taxi service offered to students in special education programs.

A letter was received from the Yellow Cab Co. stating it no longer could fulfill its transportation contract.

Daily taxi cost at the present time is set at $214, excluding needed taxi runs, and the estimated daily cost of four vans would be $253 with four aides.

Approval also was granted to hire Dave's Taxi Service to provide transportation for special education pupils to St. Louis Private Schools, Alton, and Harris School, and for physical therapy, at a monthly cost of $1,760. Four-fifths of the district's costs are reimbursed by the state for Special Education Transportation.

Recycling of its own oil is helping Granite City Steel to conserve fuel

A steel plant that produces fuel oil? It sounds unusual, but that is what is happening at Granite City Steel, a spokesman said this week.

The steelmaker is reclaiming "tramp oil" to produce thousands of gallons of fuel oil for firing furnaces and operating steam generating facilities.

Presently, the oil reclamation unit is reclaiming approximately 20,000 gallons of good quality oil per month.

Chairman Nicholas P. Veeber, GC Steel Vice President of Industrial Relations Paul M. Walter and Dr. F. B. Dioneada.

Venice fights railroad noise

More than 200 Venice residents are expected to sign petitions complaining about noise caused by the Terminal Railroad Association switching yards, referred to as a "mini-hump," it was reported at the Venice City Council, Monday night.

Mayor William "Mike" Ebersold told the council that Gregory Zak of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) told him the EPA has made sound-level recordings and found the noise level not in compliance with the law.

The mayor said Zak is contacting the railroad to see what they are doing or planning to do to correct the situation.

The mayor said residents of Venice have been complaining of the noise, which results from an automatic metal brake on the rails being applied to the metal train wheels. Aldermen were urged to have all complainants sign the petitions as court action may be needed to correct the situation.

Mayor Ebersold announced that he had obtained copies of the city of Madison's Housing and Zoning ordinances and he would like the aldermen to study them.

Flood program deadline July 1

The Metro Study Stormwater Technical Committee is issuing a reminder to all metropolitan St. Louis communities that July 1, 1975, is the deadline for qualifying for participation in the federal flood insurance program authorized under the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973.

After the July 1 deadline, non-participating communities won't be eligible for federal loans and grants—and lending firms will be barred from making loans for construction in flood-prone areas where flood insurance programs are not in effect.

providing coverage to real estate valued at $45,790,000. Jefferson County has not taken the necessary steps which would permit communities and property owners there to participate in the flood insurance program.

"The real value of participation in the flood insurance program is that future unwise development in known flood-prone areas will not be permitted or will have to meet established standards," said Wallace Altes, director of planning, East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, and a member of the committee.

"Participation will not correct flooding problems, but it will insure that property owners have the opportunity to provide financial protection against property damage and destruction."

Altes said citizens should check with local level government officials to find out whether they are eligible to apply for the insurance.

If not, citizens are encouraged to urge the officials to take necessary steps to qualify for participation in the program.

Other members of the Stormwater Technical Committee are Richard F. Astrack, hydrologic engineer, St. Louis District Corps of Engineers; John Flowe, Illinois Division of Waterways; H. Hagel, director of public works, St. Louis County; George Hasegawa, executive vice president, Turner & Stein, Inc.; Charles B. Kaiser Jr., general counsel, Metropolitan St. Louis Sewer District.

Also, Henry Reitz, president, Reitz and Jens, Inc.; Richard Ward, principal, Team Four, Inc., representing the American Institute of Planners and Robert Wydra, chief, environmental planning division, Southwestern 111th St. Metropolitan Area Planning Commission.

The Metro Study—a comprehensive investigation of bi-state St. Louis' water resource problems, needs and opportunities, coordinated by the St. Louis District Corps of Engineers—provides the forum for the technical committee's work.

While the committee is still in the process of defining its complete scope of work and objectives, members have agreed that consideration must be given to ways to prevent future stormwater-related problems. They see local community participation in the flood insurance program as a step in that direction.

Under provisions of the Flood Disaster Protection Act, counties and identified flood-prone communities must request federal assistance to obtain the insurance.

The communities are required to survey floodplains and adopt minimal land use and flood control measures, such as regulating construction in floodplain areas where the possibility of serious flooding and potential property damage and destruction exist.

About 140 communities in the 4,500-square-mile metropolitan St. Louis area have been identified as flood prone communities.

To date, 90 communities—23 in Madison, Monroe and St. Clair Counties, Ill., and 57 in Franklin, St. Charles and St. Louis Counties and the City of St. Louis—have qualified for participation.

ILLINOIS... LOOKING BACK

WITH
JOHN H. KEISER
HISTORIAN
SANGAMON STATE UNIVERSITY

THE TRIALS OF A NEW UNIVERSITY: ILLINOIS INDUSTRIAL UNIVERSITY BECOMES THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS.

One of Abraham Lincoln's greatest legacies to Illinois was the signing of the Morrill Act in 1862. An idea originating with Johnathan Baldwin Turner of Illinois College, the act provided public land to the states, the sale of which was to endow industrial and agricultural education.

From that act came the great land grant colleges of the Midwest, including the University of Illinois. It marked a major political commitment to provide state-supported education for a class of students not previously reached by private education.

Accordingly, the Illinois Industrial University was chartered in 1867 and opened in Champaign with 110 students in 1868. It was the state's third publicly supported college, joining the Normal school and replacing the short-lived Illinois Agricultural College at Iverton.

No sooner had the university been chartered than a conflict arose over the direction it should take. Trustee Matthias Dunlap of Champaign led those who wanted it to remain a strictly agricultural school. Regent John M. Gregory favored a more comprehensive university, and by the 1880s engineering was the dominant program. Agricultural education was often misunderstood by farmers themselves. They questioned changing traditional farming methods, and tended to be scornful of research into such areas as the difference between gnats and mosquitoes.

Other critics charged that students spent too much time on Greek and Latin and not enough on farming.

In its early years I.I.U. was set apart from the traditional collegiate mode. It had no song, no colors, no fraternities, and more important, gave no degrees. Its motto, "Labor and Learning," was in English instead of Latin. Student activists persuaded the General Assembly to allow degrees in 1877, the same year that Professor of Agriculture G. E. Morrow reiterated the school's pledge "to secure a wider and better education for the industrial classes." The following spring Morrow planted what would become America's oldest experimental corn plot.

University colors were adopted in 1879, and a school song in 1880. Students began a campaign to change the name of the school in 1884. "We want it understood," they proclaimed in the Illini, "that this is not a home for the feeble-minded, that homeless reproaches are not received in charge, and that the dairy on the farm is not to supply milk for orphans." On June 19, 1885, the legislature designated the school the University of Illinois.

With a new name, the U. of I. continued its transition from an innovative but narrowly focused agricultural and industrial trade school to a broad-ranging university striving for excellence in many academic fields.

MR. AND MRS. CRAIG L. MCGOVERN whose wedding took place at St. Jude Catholic Church, Wichita, Kan. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Egan, 3026 Cromwell Drive, Wichita.

McGovern-Egan nuptials at Wichita, Kan., church

Miss Sharon Joan Egan and Craig L. McGovern exchanged wedding vows in a double-ring ceremony at noon on Nov. 30 at St. Jude Catholic Church in Wichita, Kan., before an altar adorned with bouquets of pink cyclamens.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. John P. Egan, 3026 Cromwell Drive, Wichita. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F. McGovern, 2807 W. 10th St., Overland Park, Kan., formerly of Granite City.

Escorted to the altar by her

Season party of Pack 13

Ed Heintz, cubmaster of Cub Pack 13, sponsored by St. Elizabeth School, welcomed the scouts and their parents at a Yuletide party and meeting in the school cafeteria.

Den 2 under the leadership of Mrs. Mary Ann Colner led group carol singing as the scouts trimmed a tree waiting for a visit from Santa Claus, who presented each youngster with treats.

Two pinatas made to resemble a snowman and Santa were filled with gifts and broken by the children after a gift exchange.

Boxes of canned foods also were prepared for delivery to needy families prior to Christmas.

The cubmaster presented a Wolf badge and gold arrow to Steven Petrunich and a gold arrow to Tommy Adamitis. Webelos leaders Richard Moore and George Macko gave the showman awards to David Becherer, Jeff Gibbs, Scott Greathouse, Leroy Hibbs, Mike Macko, Rich Moore, Mike Niebur, Kenny Portell, Dan Smith and Tom Stegemeyer.

Den 1 led by Mrs. Gloria Heintz received the "cubby" award with the most parents present.

Cubmaster Heintz announced the annual chili supper will be held Jan. 25 in the school cafeteria.

Closing ceremony was given by Den 3, directed by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Briley. Refreshments were served by the Webelos.

Each attendant held a single pink rose.

The groom chose Peter Chesnut as his best man. Edward Huse, Paul Cunningham and Michael Hammersley served as groomsmen. Michael J. Egan, a brother of the bride, and George Goldsmith, the bride's cousin, seated the guests.

A reception was held in the church hall following the service, and a rehearsal dinner was served in the Wichita Holiday Inn for members of the wedding party and their families.

The bride is a graduate of University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kan., where she received a degree as a physical therapist.

Here husband attended the U of K and is now employed as an ironworker.

The are now residing in Joliet, Ill.

Military and civilian jobs being expanded

(Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation)

Bids are to be sought soon for construction of a six-mile-long railroad spur connecting Peabody Coal Company's Mine No. 6 to a loading dock on the Kaskaskia River near New Athens. The spur is projected to handle up to 10,000 tons of coal per day. The coal will be shipped downstream to a power generating plant in Southern Missouri.

Alton's plant commission has approved the development plan and confirmed commercial zoning for the proposed Alton Square. The new shopping center, to be located on the Belt Line, will include two major department stores, including Famous-Barr. Completion date is 1978.

Movement of freight through the Chain of Rocks Canal continues to surpass previous records. Through October of this year, shipments have totaled nearly 47 million tons, up 1.5 million tons over last year. During October, tonnage amounted to 5.2 million tons and included nearly 3 million tons of grain.

The Illinois Community College Board has approved a Franklin Park site as the permanent campus for State Community College in East St. Louis. leaders have negotiated lucrative wage boosts and fringe benefits. The built-in pay gains in such pacts, along with increases under 1975 reopenings, needed liberalization of wage rates in nonunion, government, and personal services, spell higher gross incomes for the nation's workers. We emphasize again, however, that only improvement in real discretionary buying power can ultimately turn the business tide.

Without this solid gain, the economy will continue to rack up merely the illusionary progress of inflation. MORE PENNY-PINCHING A subtle we used in last year's forecast — "A penny saved is not good for business" — proved to be particularly apropos. It has been the fierce pinch on family budgets that has forced consumers to set more rigid priorities for their spending. The hikes in basic costs for heat and light, food, and transportation have strapped family budgets to the point where there is little left over for other consumer items. Especially hard hit have been low- to mid-income groups, the retired and aged, the sick, and those impoverished by various social problems. It is likely that some assistance will be forthcoming via legislation in the new year to help these ill-served people.

For the consumer group as a whole, 1975 looks like another year of tight purse strings, at least until late in the game when the combined influence of higher wages, some abatement of inflation, and natural replacement buying could stimulate sales notably. The upturn could come even earlier if the currently beleaguered auto industry should trot out "half year" models with prices enough lower to rekindle buyer interest. And, of course, once home building turns upward, it will not be long before demand for furniture, appliances, and other furnishings perks up.

AGRICULTURAL OUTLOOK The skyrocketing prices of grain, beef, and more recently sugar make it vital for Mother Nature to smile on us in 1975. Given normal weather in the coming crop year, American farmers can produce much-needed grain and livestock supplies in quantities that can help ease some inflationary pressures.

A bountiful farm output is needed, too, for export to food-short nations — in the process improving our balance-of-payments situation. Fertilizer and in some cases seeds are inadequate for maximum acreage plantings even with the best of weather, and farm operating costs have by no means escaped inflation. We are hopeful, nevertheless, that there will be a record farm output in 1975. As to individual major crops, the picture is further clouded by the question of how much acreage will be sown to soybean, corn, sorghum, or sugar beet, since all involve extremely high prices.

BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION New housing starts were hurt severely in 1974, exceeding the anticipated decline. Our forecast of 1.3 million seemed unduly pessimistic at the start of 1974, in contrast to the 1.8 million projected by most economic forecasters. But preliminary figures indicate that we were pretty close to dead center.

We now expect 1975 to show some turn-around. Initially, housing starts may slip close to the 1-million mark, since building permits are still on the way down. But a brighter climate for building and construction can emerge as 1975 moves along. "Easier monetary conditions and more consumer emphasis on savings have had some positive effects at savings and loan institutions and banks. While mortgage money is still far from flush, at least a beginning has been made in this key sector. At best, however, the mortgage money supply is likely to support more than a moderate betterment in 1975 housing starts — our guess is 1.6 million units. BUSINESS PROFITS Nineteen-seventy-four was a year of better profits for much of American business, but few realize that seemingly astronomical gains resulted from comparing earnings little better than normal (and some cases of abnormal earnings, as in oil and sugar) with profits established by price controls in parts of 1972 and 1973.

In the second half of 1973 and in 1974, price markups to compensate for brisk cost advances made many year-to-year profits comparisons look better than they were. Progress will be slowed in 1975, and indeed quarterly figures showing earnings below this year's may even predominate. While business is contending with a sagging economy, it is especially difficult to offset the pinch of rising costs through price increases. Still the substantial business profits of 1974 have strengthened the financial standing of many companies which had been skirting close to disaster. Nevertheless, the economic climate will make things difficult, and despite cost-cutting efforts the slower pace of business will probably lop off some 12 per cent from corporate profits versus the 1974 total.

As profits sag, there are bound to be some dividend casualties, but by and large established dividend rates will be held. There will be no spate of extra disbursements, but neither will there be a rash of cuts or omissions. DOMESTIC POLITICS — INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS The clear domination of Democrats effected in the 1974 elections and the resultant strong liberal bias have unnerved many businessmen and investors. Bear in mind, however, that the wide-open race for the 1976 Democratic Presidential nomination could bring about some fragmentation of what now appears to be a veto-proof Congress. The drive will be on, of course, for more social programs, including a national health plan and a consumer protection agency. If the recession induces Congress to push the panic button, there will be heavy pressure for spending well beyond the Administration's intentions. But the free spenders must reckon with the federal budget deficit, which could approximate $25 billion in the fiscal year ending June 30.

On the international front, the Babson's Reports staff looks for the detente in Soviet-American relations to be maintained, though the degree of harmony must be expected to vary. The Mideast remains center stage, of course, as arms buildups and rash talk paint an incendiary backdrop. Danger of renewed Arab-Israeli fighting is grave, but we are hopeful that outright war can be averted in 1975. STOCK AND BOND OUTLOOK The letdown in economic vitality has already caused a weakening in interest rates, with consequent beneficial

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD Thurs., Dec. 26, 1974 Page 25 effects on bond prices. The greater decline has been in short-term rates, with long-term less responsive because of still hefty demand for long-term capital needs and concern over inflation. In 1975, this pattern is likely to persist, particularly as the Federal Reserve moves more positively to ease credit in response to mounting fears of recession.

At this juncture, therefore, income-oriented investors still have a good opportunity to acquire top-quality bonds, as well as preferred stocks, at especially advantageous yields. In view of the desultory business outlook for most of 1975, the stock market would appear to have little chance of making any appreciable headway over the next twelve months. However, investors should keep in mind two vital considerations: (1) The stock market anticipates things to come, and having discounted much bad news it may now be simply waiting to signal a turn for the better. And (2) the prices of vast numbers of stocks and convertible securities have already been hammered down to levels where they represent excellent values. Thus, for investors who are in a position to risk a trifle early, there are plenty of opportunities for timely investments at present. It would be wise to begin considering the filtering of at least small parts of liquid reserves into equity-acceptable investments, making certain, of course, to weigh carefully the basic needs of an individual portfolio. In short, this is the time to set one's portfolio in a position to benefit fully from the next major market advance, the start of which will doubtless emerge in 1975 from what is now a haze-building gloom. Symptomatic of any bottoming-out process is the market's propensity to bob around. But when this high volatility and low readings for both individual issues and leading market averages combine against a gloomy background, conditions are auspicious for astute bargain hunters to start moving in — sensibly, carefully, patiently, for maximum long-term capital gains and rewarding income.

'Barrage of misrepresentation' against Airport Authority cited

(Following is a statement Monday by Arven H. Saunders, executive director of the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority. The statement was prompted by a series of articles in a St. Louis newspaper.)

We deplore the entirely unwarranted implication that a St. Louis newspaper apparently is seeking to raise about the integrity of a man who has faithfully rendered invaluable service to the taxpayers of Illinois.

In three articles on these services, the St. Louis newspaper has not made clear that when it first inquired it was given a complete set of itemized statements for the full four years of these services.

These are the same statements that have been reviewed regularly and approved by Ernst & Ernst, the Authority's independent outside auditors, and by the State of Illinois Auditor General's office, and cleared by the Legislative Audit Commission.

The statements were all in a form and detail that complies with nationally-recognized requirements for bills for professional services.

Now, the newspaper wants to examine individual supporting documents for such itemized expenses as postage, photo copying, telephone calls and travel.

This information is available for review by the Auditor General or the Legislative Audit Commission.

The facts about the services of John E. Robson and his firm are very simple and very clear. Current federal legislation places enormous burdens requiring highly specialized expertise — on an agency that seeks to build a major airport.

Failure to comply fully with the requirements of the law can jeopardize the entire project or result in an enormous financial burden later.

The St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority was singularly fortunate to engage the services of Mr. Robson, who is highly qualified to advise and assist in the demanding process of filing a proper application and following it through the various review processes to final approval. With help from Mr. Robson and assistants working under his direction, the Authority filed with the federal government what has been described as the most complete draft Environmental Impact Statement ever presented for an airport.

The statement has withstood every challenge in every respect. Had the St. Louis airport question been handled in a normal manner, the preparation of the statement would have ended the need for Mr. Robson's services on a heavy basis.

Unfortunately, in the period since the application was filed in 1972, there has been an almost unending barrage of misrepresentation by others.

The most notable of these misrepresentations was the notorious Lambert 2000 Plan of the Missouri-St. Louis Metropolitan Airport Authority. While the so-called Plan and other such proposals were transparent to anyone familiar with the requirements, each of these items must receive the same review and response as if they were serious, constructive answers to the clearly defined regional and national need for a major new airport for the St. Louis area.

Throughout this trying period, Mr. Robson and his firm have contributed immeasurably to keeping the true issue alive and in perspective — to insure the aviation future of the St. Louis region — so that we can begin work without costly delays when the federal review process is completed.

Koepke will aid research

The National Council for Urban Economic Development (CUEDE) in Washington has chosen Robert L. Koepke, an associate professor of earth sciences at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, as a member on its research and policy analysis committee.

Koepke is one of 21 "think-tank" researchers across the U.S. who will explore economic issues vital to urban leaders.

The newly-established committee will guide CUEDE's efforts in investigating and educating cities in their local economic development. The committee will take inventory of what has been done in the past and what is now being done to attack local economic stagnation.

"We will look at what cities are doing for themselves on a national basis," Koepke said. "Most larger central cities have a governmental agency researching economic development in their areas. The committee will determine what research these agencies are undertaking, so that we don't spend money incorrectly," he said.

The Council has already published findings on how localities have adjusted to defense base closings, economic development policy, and energy and local economic development.

CUEDE's information services to the cities will also provide insights in such areas as land supply, financing of new business development, taxation, location decision-making and how to obtain federal assistance.

According to CUEDE, urban leaders are recognizing that effective economic development programs require planning, technical skill, wide-range community support and dollars. "Hopefully, some of the research we come up with can be used to solve some of our urban problems in St. Louis, East St. Louis and the surrounding area," Koepke said.

Cub pack 22 has yule party

Approximately 85 persons attended a Christmas party for Cub Pack 22 at Prohardt School.

Den 8 presented the flag ceremony. Special guest for the evening, Capt. Kerley of the Salvation Army, spoke briefly concerning the current work in providing Christmas for the underprivileged and less fortunate members of the community.

Cubmaster Lew Frazar presented a basket of food to Capt. Kerley, donated by Pack 22 Cubs. Skits related to the Christmas season entertained the audience: Den 3, "The Toy Parade"; Den 3, "Christmas Alphabet"; Den 2, "Customs and Symbols of Christmas All Over the World"; Den 1, "They Don't Have A Skit"; Webelos, "History of the Flag."

Special guest for the evening was Santa Claus, portrayed by Ted Scrump, who presented candy canes to the audience. Santa then assisted Henry Lamb, bake-off contest chairman, in presenting awards to the following boys for their winning entries in the following six categories:

1 — Cupcakes, from "mix," first, Dennis Martin; second, Lloyd Green; third, Richard Grizzard.

2 — Batch of candy, from "mix," first, Fred Trester; second, Paul Smith; third, Todd Goodrick.

3 — Batch of candy, "from scratch," first, Joel Donley; second, Joe Boneau; third, Craig Caven.

4 — Cookies, "from mix," first, Bob Pare; second, Wynne Buenger; third, Randy Markarian.

5 — Cookies, "from scratch," first, Fred Trester; second, Jon Lamb; third, Eric Wilson.

6 — Cookies, "from scratch," first, Dwight Wade; second, Bill Russell; third, Don McAllister.

Cookies "from scratch" were divided into two sections due to the large number of entries in this section. Achievement awards were presented to Den 3 Cubs as follows: Fred Trester, gold arrow; Richard Grizzard, two silver arrows; Corey McConnell, two silver arrows; David Briggs, one gold and two silver arrows; Wynne Buenger, one silver arrow.

The closing ceremony consisted of the customary grand bowl. Refreshments consisting of Bake-Off contest entries were served in the cafeteria by the Pack committee members.

St. John Lutheran services

The Rev. Walter Schmidt of Kirkwood, Mo., a missionary serving in Ghana, Africa, now home on furlough will be guest speaker at the Sunday worship services at St. John Lutheran Church, St. Clair and Dale avenues.

The Women's Service Guild and the congregation has "adopted" the minister, his wife and two daughters at their missionary family which they support throughout the year.

A traditional service at 7 p.m. on New Year's Eve and will include Holy Communion, according to the Rev. Samuel Boda, pastor.

The Rev. Boda also announced a worship service at 9 a.m. New Year's Day and an Epiphany Festival service at 10 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 5, to conclude the Christmas season's worship program. Newly elected church officers will be installed in ceremonies conducted during the service, the Rev. Boda reports.

OPEN 8 A.M. - 5 P.M. TUESDAY, DEC. 31, NEW YEAR'S EVE

Rev. Krause will succeed Rev. Leckrone

The longest sustained local church pastorate by an ordained member of the United Methodist Southern Illinois Conference will come to an end Dec. 31, 1974, when the Rev. Dr. Eugene M. Leckrone, senior pastor of Union Church, Belleville, retires after 22 years service and moves to Pompano Beach, Fla. He is a former Granite Cityan.

The Rev. Robert A. Krause, pastor of First United Methodist Church, Carbondale, since 1972, will succeed Dr. Leckrone in the Belleville pulpit, effective Jan. 15, according to appointments announced by Bishop Lance Webb, Springfield, and his cabinet. Rev. Krause is well known in the Quad-Cities.

At the same time, Bishop Webb announced appointment of the Rev. Ray Porter, 43, pastor of First Church, Metropolis, since 1972, as pastor of the Carbondale church.

Only one other clergyman has served longer in a local church appointment than Dr. Leckrone — the Rev. Charles Simpkins, an associate member of the conference now in the 40th year of service to churches in the St. Elmo Circuit.

In recognition of his service to the church and community, the Belleville Optimist Club named Dr. Leckrone outstanding citizen of 1974 and presented him with a plaque.

He will become minister of visitation for First United Methodist Church, Pompano Beach, a part-time activity. Rev. Krause, a native of East St. Louis, graduated from East St. Louis High School in 1947. After attending Southern Illinois University at Carbondale one year, he graduated from McKendree College, Lebanon, in 1951 with a bachelor of arts degree in philosophy and religion.

Son of Mrs. G. H. Krause, Belleville, the clergyman graduated from Emory University, Candler School of Theology, Atlanta, Ga., in 1954, with a master of divinity degree and from DePaul University, Greenacres, Ind., in 1963 with a M.A. degree in theology.

Rev. Krause married the former Miss Colleen Draper, Madison, and the couple has three sons: David, 21, a graduate of McKendree College and graduate student at Southern Illinois University; Michael, 20, junior at McKendree College; and Stephen, 16, junior at Carbondale High School.

Mrs. Krause, a teacher at Carbondale East High School, graduated with high honors from Southern Illinois University with a B. A. degree in secondary education and is currently enrolled in a master's degree program at the university.

The clergyman, who served student charges in Illinois (Boulder Circuit) and Alabama, was ordained a deacon in 1952 and elder in 1954, when he became a member of the Southern Illinois Conference.

He is a former chairman of the conference Boards of Health and Welfare and Education, and former executive secretary for fiscal affairs of the conference, and is chairman of the Bishop's committee on area office budget, policy and personnel and the Board of Discipline.

Rev. Krause is a member of the conference Council on Ministries and its committee on research and development.

He is a member of the board of trustees of McKendree College, board of directors of Wesley Foundation at Southern Illinois University and a former board affiliate of the United Methodist Children's Home, Mt. Vernon, and United Methodist Village at Lawrenceville.

He is a member of the Masonic organization, Fairfield Lodge, a 32nd Degree Mason, and Scottish Rite Consistory at Belleville.

He has served pastorates at Desoto-New Bethel, Mounds, Oblong and Fairfield. A brother, Gustav, resides in Fairview Heights.

Injury suit filed

James D. Daniels has filed a seven-count suit in Madison County Circuit Court, seeking $250,000 in each count, against Dow Chemical Co., L. McNair, John Carlson, Austin Co., Clark Controller Co., and Phelps-Dodge Aluminum Products Co. Daniels alleges that on Dec. 8, 1972, while employed as an operator with the latter defendant at its Madison plant, he suffered severe and permanent injuries when his right hand and forearm became caught in rollers of a machine he was attempting to clean. Negligence was charged in maintenance and design of the machines.

THE FIRST STEPS OF OPERATION AWARE ARE:

1. AN EARLY WARNING SYSTEM ON PRICE INCREASES: THE AWARE LIST.

Every week we will voluntarily post a list of price increases such as those received from manufacturers a full seven days before we actually change our price. That gives you one week to purchase at the old price—subject, of course, to product availability. You'll also find "Be Aware" shelf tags on many frequently purchased items, with the day of the price increase right on the tag. Of course, the AWARE List won't include perishables like meat, eggs or fresh fruit and vegetables, where markets fluctuate daily. Items controlled by law or advertised specials. So before you plan your next week's shopping list, check this week's AWARE List.

2. A PRICE FREEZE ON A&P PRIVATE LABELS.

A&P voluntarily has put a ceiling on over 1000 A&P Products. (Smaller stores may not regularly stock all items, but a list is available in all stores.) That means prices will go no higher at least until the end of the year, on many products that you use every day. — bread, cheese, pasta, coffee, non-fat dry milk, frozen potatoes, rice, tuna fish, fruit cocktail, frozen dinners and canned peas and corn. Advertisements below the freeze price will still be offered. We've put the freeze on our private label because they represent the best values in our stores. And we'll hold down the prices, even if our ingredient costs go up.

3. OUR 13 POINT CONSUMER PROTECTION POLICY.

If our continuing commitment to making you an AWARE shopper by reminding you of what every A&P store owes you and by informing you of ways to get the most for your money. Look for the signs coming up inside A&P stores spelling out all the protection A&P gives you:

HOLIDAY CHEER. The Christmas season was made brighter for 525 needy families through the efforts of the Salvation Army's annual "Tree of Lights" campaign. At the Venice Recreation Center, recipients received canned goods, fresh vegetables and turkeys from volunteer Salvation Army workers who greeted each with a warm "Merry Christmas" as they placed food in the baskets. Volunteer workers above, from left, are Mrs. Mary Knowlton, Mrs. Nora O'Neal, Mrs. Nina Hull and Mrs. Elizabeth Griffin.

DISTRIBUTION OF GIFT BASKETS by the Salvation Army began at 2 p.m. Monday in the Venice Recreation Center. Helping with the distribution were about 25 Salvation Army volunteer workers and Boy Scouts from Troop 15 sponsored by the Eagles' Lodge. Volunteer workers above are Mrs. Nina Hull, at left, and Mrs. Elizabeth Griffin, right, placing canned goods in a box. Tree of Lights Campaign Chairman Steve Bristol said, "For many people in need, there just wouldn't be any Christmas at all without the Salvation Army."

Nursing home residents feted

Residents at the Colonial Haven Nursing Home were entertained this month at many parties and received gifts from several organizations in the Quad-City area, which helped to provide them with a happy Christmas season, home administrators reported.

On Monday, the nursing home's Yule party was opened with the serving of egg nog and fruit cake and highlighted by the arrival of "Santa" portrayed by Captain Ronald Kerley of the Salvation Army, who distributed gifts.

During the festivities the BMZers youth group from Concordia Lutheran Church, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bayer, sang several carols.

The nursing home staff decorated the doors as part of a contest judged by residents, Mary Christopher, Mary Breckenridge, Maude Feecey, Bill Dixon, Maggie Trivich, Ella McQuay and Nina Pfadler. Winners selected by the group were "O Holy Night" by Lanette Haddix at the south entrance; "Letter from Johnny and Linda Galt" representing a Sunday school class at the main office and "The Christmas Tree" by Doty Hoffman on the north door.

The first Christmas bazaar project, sponsored by the residents, concluded during the weekend. The proceeds, totaling $575, will be used to purchase a grandfather clock for the lounge area at the home.

Fourth grade students from Nameoki School under the leadership of Mrs. Maureen Banks brought handmade Christmas napkin rings to the residents and sang a selection of carols.

Another program of Christmas songs was played by the Golden Age Bell Ringers from Madison and a party was hosted by Mrs. Verna Michel earlier this month.

Musical entertainment also was provided by the Lakeview Christian Academy; Job's Daughters; and young people from the Church of God, the Briarcliff Pentecostal Church and the First United Presbyterian Church.

Gifts and treats were brought to the residents by young people of St. Margaret Mary Church, led by Mrs. Mary Beasley, and Linda Galt representing a Sunday school class at the Granite City Army Installation.

Animal group to sell bird seed Saturday

Good quality wild bird seed will be offered to the public at nominal cost by the Quad-City Association for the Protection of Animals (APA) from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday in the Bellemeo Village Shopping Center mall.

Mrs. Connie Becerra, APA shelter supervisor, said about 1,400 pounds of bird seed has been purchased by the non-profit humane group and packaged for resale into four-pound sacks. A donation of $1 per four-pound sack will be asked from the public, she said.

She explained the association receives no outside financial aid except for the purchase of funds earned by members from special projects and the small fees sought from those adopting animals. The latter also is used for medical expenses and related care.

The APA officer said that feeding costs have more than doubled in the past few months. Especially high is food for dogs. About 25 pounds of dry dog food is used each day at the APA shelter.

APA members plan to offer the bird seed for sale each Saturday through January or until all packages are sold, Mrs. Becerra said.

Madison pushes to upgrade property

Mayor Mike Sasyk vowed he will keep "driving and pushing" landlords in Madison to fix up their property to a reasonable standard during the Monday night meeting of the Madison City Council.

John Dutko, city building inspector, reported to the council that earlier in the day he and the City Attorney Casper Nighobossian won a condemnation suit against the property at 908 Grand Ave.

He said that unless an appeal is filed within 30 days the city may learn down the property and obtain a lien to cover the cost.

Dutko reported that about 80 per cent of the problems with property is caused by three absentee landlords "who seem to ignore the city statutes, and to be slum landlords, not caring about anything but collecting rent."

Mayor Sasyk said, "We just are not going to tolerate slum landlords. We are trying to be fair and liberal with these people and have tried to meet them more than halfway. We don't expect them to build palaces but we do want halfway decent places for people to live in."

"We are going to keep driving and pushing and use the full extent of the law. We want people to be proud to live in Madison."

The mayor appointed a joint Community Development Committee and Bi-Centennial Committee for the city of Madison. The purpose of the Community Development committee will be to work on means to improve all areas of the city and to work with other communities in improving the entire area.

The members of the joint committee appointed with the consent of the council are Emil Toffant, Elvers Johnson, William Gushleff, George Amish, Mrs. Shirley Greer, Mrs. Julie Voloski and W. P. "Mick" Strange.

Appointed to the Recreation board were Frank Kierski and Andy Bridick; and to the library board, Mrs. Georgeanne Krakowicki.

The city purchasing committee recommended and the council approved the purchasing of two Apollo Skylark Buick autos for the newly created Madison-Venice detective team. The monies for the autos is provided in a federal grant.

City Controller Al Hudzik reported on new laws regarding finances connected with political campaigns.

The law concerns persons that spend or receive over $1,000 in a campaign. Hudzik said, "The $1,000 does not have to be in cash. If some one donates to a candidate office space for a campaign the normal rent for that office must be considered as part of the $1,000 figure."

He pointed out that the candidate must keep accurate records of all contributions of $20 or more and if anyone contributes $150 or more this must be recorded with the Madison County Clerk's office. Any anonymous contributions according to Hudzik, must be sent to the Illinois State Treasurer's office and will be placed in the state's general fund.

Hudzik stated that within two days after a candidate files in Madison, City Clerk John Belcoff will mail them two

Self-employed tax deadline

Taxpayers with self-employed individual retirement plans must make sure their contributions are paid before the close of the 1974 calendar year if their income tax returns are filed on the cash basis method, according to Ira S. Loeb, district director of Internal Revenue.

A provision in the Pension Reform Act effective for plan years beginning after Sept. 2, 1974, permits cash basis taxpayers to make contributions after the close of the year, but before their returns are due. However, this provision is not effective for the year 1974, Loeb said.

Taxpayers filing returns on an accrual basis can still make their contributions at any time prior to the due date of their 1974 returns.

Open house Sunday for area foreign students

The International Hospitality Program (IHP) for students on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus Sunday from 4 until 10 p.m.

The party for students away from home will be held in the Tasovsky Center at the northeast edge of the campus. It will be hosted by the executive and administrative committees of the IHP, International "Mamas" and area host families.

All students from foreign countries attending high school, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville or other colleges and universities in this area are invited to attend. They may bring along a friend or any members of their families who might be visiting them during the holidays.

There will be games, refreshments and music, according to Mary Puhse, president of the IHP. Additional information may be obtained by telephoning 636-4339.

Holiday generosity after pre-Christmas tragedy

Last week, resident Charles Mays of the Pontiac Correctional Center was informed that, as a result of a fire in the Mays' home in Chicago, his wife had been hospitalized and their three-year-old daughter Charlene was dead.

One week later, 37 of his fellow residents had initiated a collection and sent $156 to Mays' wife. And the GAOL Jaycees, an organization of residents within the Pontiac Center, had decided to finance the $101 necessary for Mays' trip to Chicago for the funeral.

According to one employee at the Pontiac Center, the Jaycees group also has funded other such funeral furlough trips. The group earns money through community and institutional projects.

Funeral furloughs are granted to residents of an institution who are considered trustworthy and with the approval of the administrator of institution services. Mays is assigned to the honor farm at Pontiac.

Director of Corrections Allyn R. Sielaff on Christmas Eve congratulated the residents on their generosity and initiative.

"What these 37 individual residents and the Jaycees did for Mays was a wonderful act of human kindness. It helps destroy the myth that most prisoners are totally selfish individuals," he commented.

Manufacturers say court upholds their contention

"Our view that the Illinois Pollution Control Board has failed to adequately consider economics or technology in adopting pollution rules has been vindicated." So said Orville V. Bergen, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, in commenting this week on a decision by the Illinois Appellate Court which invalidated key Illinois air pollution regulations.

The court held that Pollution Control Board rules in question were arbitrary and unreasonable.

Manufacturers and utilities could not get the sufficient quantities of low sulfur coal or oil to meet the particulate or sulfur dioxide standards in the short time allowed by the regulations; technology to remove sulfur gases from smokestacks also was not available, nor were costs shown to be justified by pollution control benefits, according to the court.

The court held that the board's failure to give adequate consideration to the technical feasibility or economic reasonableness of these regulations violated Section 27 of the Illinois Environmental Protection Act.

Specifically, the court's decision voids Illinois Pollution Control Board Air Pollution Rule 305 which deals with nondegradation; the court has reversed and sent back to the Pollution Control Board for further review rules governing particulate and sulfur dioxide emissions.

The decision voiding Illinois enforcement of the rules in question raises the possibility of federal enforcement under the Clean Air Act, Bergen said. But the decision is expected to be appealed to the Illinois Supreme Court.

IN THE NEW YEAR

As 1975 begins, the world is still in search of peace...lasting peace. It is our earnest hope that this coming year with its bright new promise will show us the way to that long awaited peace on earth. Let us each strive, in our own way, to bring harmony to a discordant world — let us renew our efforts to understand those around us, that we may be able to live at peace with one another.

John Spiroff feted on 90th birthday

John Spiroff, 1619 Poplar St., was guest of honor at a combined Christmas and birthday party given Wednesday in observance of his 90th birthday by his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Spiroff of Rural Route One.

Dinner was served by the hosts who decorated the table in red and green, using a centerpiece of poinsettias and a cake inscribed with "Dad and Grandpa."

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ken Spiroff and son, Ken, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gages, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bridick, Mrs. Ann Hamilton, Miss Diane Spiroff, Miss Mary Berenson and Diane.
